Stevenson Assails UN Status; Terms It Same As 'Beggar In The Street'

Foreign Aid Cut Battle Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a full-circle switch of strategy, administration leaders moved Thursday to avoid a showdown effort in the House against at least part of the nearly $1.4-billion cut recommended by the House Appropriations Committee.

The leaders had said after a White House breakfast that they had decided to do battle in the House against at least part of the nearly $1.4-billion cut recommended by the House Appropriations Committee.

But a few hours before the bill came up for debate in the House, Democratic leaders told newsmen they figured a House showdown would be too risky. They feared that opening up the measure to amendments would stir the aid cutters into action and the appropriation might end up even further shrunken.

Plan Strategy
The best strategy, the leaders decided, was to let the appropriation slide through the House in its present form and then try to jack up the totals in the Senate, where traditionally his has been easier.

Then the final amount would be worked out in a Senate-House conference, although the leaders conceded they might lose some of the ground gained in the Senate. The $5,956,852,000 measure compares to $7.3 billion President Kennedy asked for economic and military aid.

The administration hopes to restore at least $200 million of the $475-million slash in the development fund for which Kennedy had requested $1.25 billion. An effort is expected to be made also to restore part of the $11.75 million cut from the Peace Corps allotment.

Hope For Increase
After the White House meeting of Democratic leaders with Kennedy, House Speaker John W.

McCormack of Massachusetts said he hoped the House would raise the allotments substantially. But he conceded such prospects were problematical.

Kennedy's efforts to wipe out part of the cut got support from former President Harry Truman. Truman's statement issued through the office of Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., said:

"The dangerous situation with which we are faced in Berlin and many other spots and the even more distressing problem which now exists in Cuba, makes it apparent that this is not the time when we can undertake to make drastic cuts in our foreign aid program."

Truman conceded it imposes a heavy burden on the American taxpayer.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk sent letters to House leaders saying the cuts would paralyze United States leadership in critical areas at a time when the Cuban and Berlin crises pose serious problems.

Special TV Supplement

THE DAILY Record today heralds the approaching new television season with a special six-page supplement.

It contains information and pictures about the new shows which will be seen this season — and the old and familiar ones which are returning.

Also included is a group of advertisements from local businesses which cover every phase of television, radio and record entertainment from brand new equipment to repairs and service on older models.

House Balks At College Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House balked at accepting any student aid in a college construction bill Thursday, sending it back to a House-Senate conference, where it is expected to die.

"I'd say it's dead," said Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., who managed the bill on the floor. "I don't see that there's any chance for it."

She said also the action probably dooms all federal aid-to-education legislation for many years.

The 214-186 roll-call vote that sent the bill back to conference came on a Republican-sponsored motion that was also strongly supported by southern Democrats.

Although Republicans directed their attack against the student-

JFK Warns Europeans On Importance Of U. S. Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Thursday that the dollar has used in the past.

Reminds Europeans
He reminded Europeans, for example, that they received $26 billion of U. S. economic aid during the postwar years—out of total overseas defense and aid outlays of $88 billion.

The United States as a result no longer has a disproportionate share of the free world's gold, economic strength — or economic responsibility," he said.

Kennedy reminded his audience also that the United States could solve its balance-of-payments problem overnight by withdrawing troops stationed abroad, cutting foreign aid, raising tariff barriers, and retreating into isolation.

He added, however, that, "The basic strength of the dollar makes such actions as unnecessary as they are unwise."

Senate Votes Note To Khrush On Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted Thursday to serve clear notice on the Kremlin that the United States will fight to prevent Cuba from being turned into a military threat to any of its neighbors.

A resolution warning that any aggressive buildup "could have the gravest possible consequences" was adopted by a vote of 86-1 after a three-hour debate.

The lone negative vote was cast by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., who said the resolution does not go far enough.

All of the 13 absent senators were announced officially as favoring the resolution. The policy declaration was drafted by leaders of both political parties and is intended as an expression of U. S. determination and solidarity by Congress and President Kennedy.

Companion Resolution
The House Foreign Affairs Committee approved a companion resolution and leaders scheduled it for floor debate Friday. Some members were pressing for tougher language, however, and this may delay until next week its journey to the White House for Kennedy's signature.

Punctuating the congressional action was a report indicating a substantial increase in Soviet shipments to Cuba in the past month. U. S. officials said that since late July the Soviets have delivered between 65 and 75 shiploads to Cuban ports, divided perhaps about evenly between military equipment and personnel, and general cargoes consisting of food and industrial supplies.

The officials said the latest U. S. government estimate of the number of Soviet personnel in Cuba is 4,200. They said the growing military buildup in Cuba is still

Individual Nations Urged To Pay Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson demanded Thursday that the General Assembly act to compel members to share all costs and keep the United Nations from acting like "a beggar in the street."

The chief U. S. delegate made the request in a major policy speech in which a reference to Cuba touched off a fiery response from its U. N. representative.

In a review of the world situation that opened his speech, Stevenson charged that the Cuban government "with a moral and material support from outside, carries on a campaign of subversion and vituperation against its neighbors in the Western Hemisphere."

Mario Garcia-Inchausti, the chief spokesman here for Fidel Castro's regime, strode to the rostrum to exercise his rights of reply.

He declared that the United States in an atmosphere "of general hysteria" was planning aggression against Cuba. "Tell your generals," he added, "that more than six million Cubans will defend with more than sweet words the charter of the United Nations."

Stevenson made no reply in the assembly. A spokesman for the U. S. delegation said of the Cuban charge: "It's hardly worth any comment."

Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, applauded the Cuban vigorously. This was in contrast to his reaction to the Stevenson speech. Gromyko listened impassively to Stevenson, and did not join in the resounding applause at the end from most members outside the Soviet bloc. It will be Gromyko's turn to speak Friday.

Stevenson began his speech by pointing to trouble spots in "a dark and precarious world."

He said pressures and harassments against West Berlin "continue to rank as a most ominous threat to the peace of the world."

He asserted that peace in Southeast Asia is menaced by "illegal support across frontiers for an armed insurrection in Southeast Asia," he said the Chinese Communists "continue their policy of provocation, their acts of force and subversion."

In respect to the precarious financial position of the United Nations, he called upon the assembly to accept the advisory opinion of the World Court holding that all members are obligated to pay for peace-keeping operations.

Refuse To Pay

The Soviet Union and its satellites refuse to pay for the U. N. Congo operation along with France and some other Western countries. The Soviet bloc and most of the Arab countries refuse to pay anything toward the U. N. Emergency Force in the Middle East.

To meet the situation the United Nations is promoting a $200-million emergency bond issue.

Stevenson said that when proceeds from the bond issue are exhausted the assembly "must devise a financing plan for future peace-keeping operations."

Whatever the character of the plan, he added, it should require that every member meet its obligations when an assessment is duly voted.

"We hope this assembly will adopt a program which, through one means or another, will finance operations authorized by itself or by the Security Council. Otherwise we doom our organization to impotence. We cannot expect the United Nations to survive from day to day by passing a cup like a beggar in the street," he said.

Nuclear Tests
He said the United States is ready to end nuclear tests in the without any verification. He expressed belief that the outlook for a test ban was better than for agreement on general disarmament.

He inserted into his prepared text a statement that the Soviet Union was estimated to have exploded nuclear devices since 1949 with a total yield of 250 megatons, compared with 140 megatons by the United States since it began testing in 1945.

He added that since the Soviet Union "broke the moratorium last fall its explosions have yielded 200 megatons—those which the United States was then compelled to undertake only 25 megatons."

Argentina Swarms With Troops As Leaders Talk

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina swarmed with troops Thursday, talking tough but holding their fire in a power struggle bringing a new threat to President Jose Maria Guido's government.

Guido met again with the rebel leader, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, at the presidential residence. Their first truce talks collapsed Wednesday night.

Thursday Guido and the rebel commander talked for almost two hours. Ongania glumly refused to say anything to newsmen emerging from the conference to return to his headquarters.

Guido reportedly made the gesture for the new talks, apparently arranged by businessmen and other civilian leaders afraid that the army feud will erupt into a shooting war.

Accuse Dictatorship
Rebels led by Ongania have accused an army clique of using Guido as a front man to pave the way for setting up a military dictatorship in this key South American nation. Guido rejects the charge.

Guido's military-backed regime has been split by a fight among the generals for key command posts almost from the moment he took over from ousted President Frondizi last March.

The war has been waged mostly in words.

There were reports that rebel tankmen clashed with loyalist infantrymen southeast of the capital, but the reports could not be confirmed.

Another report said troops at La Plata, capital of Buenos Aires Province, shot at a rebel plane flying low to drop pamphlets.

The war secretariat said a small rebel convoy headed toward the capital from the armored base at Magdalena, about 60 miles southeast of Buenos Aires, had been halted and one officer and 36 soldiers captured. The communique made no mention of whether the rebels put up a fight.

Set Up Fortifications
Troops dug trenches, set tank traps and hastily erected anti-aircraft guns in the capital and the suburbs. Government forces in combat dress took up key positions.

Hundreds of residents around the rebel stronghold Campo de Mayo, 10 miles outside Buenos Aires, packed up and fled in fear shooting might break out.

The rebels are demanding that Guido fire Gen. Juan Carlos Lorio, army commander in chief. They accused Lorio of plotting behind the back of the mild-mannered president and planting his own men in key commands to pave the way for a military takeover.

Governor Adamant In Race Issue

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi defied orders of federal courts Thursday and refused to admit James H. Meredith, a Negro, as a student at the University of Mississippi.

The Mississippi governor made his defiant decision in a face-to-face meeting of 23 minutes with Meredith, who hopes to be the first person of his race to enroll in Ole Miss in the school's 114-year history.

He said "no" despite a federal court edict that Meredith must be admitted and in the face of a convoy of four men believed to be U. S. marshals.

Gov. Barnett courted a contempt citation from a federal court by the action, taken upon authority given him by the Mississippi College Board a few hours ago.

A week ago the governor told Mississippi in an impassioned speech that he would go to jail rather than integrate a Mississippi school and more than hinted that he would close schools before he would do so.

Guarded Meeting
The dramatic meeting of Barnett and Meredith, 29, took place behind the guarded doors of Alumni House on the Ole Miss campus a few minutes after the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in Hattiesburg, Miss., overthrew a new state law that would have barred from the school the Koscusko, Miss., Negro.

When Barnett took his action the court had ordered all Mississippi officials not to interfere with Meredith's admission to Ole Miss under previous court orders;

2. to try to arrest Meredith under his conviction on voter registration fraud charges, or 3. to put into effect an order by Jones County, Miss., Chancery Court which would bar Meredith from the state university.

About the same time, Barnett held a telephone conversation with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy in Washington. While the conversation remained courteous, a Justice Department spokesman said, neither man retreated.

Compromise Farm Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a razor-thin five-vote margin, the House approved Thursday a compromise farm bill that would give President Kennedy some of the tools he says are necessary to control grain surpluses.

The 202-197 vote was a reversal of the 10-vote beating the House gave the original administration farm bill in June. The compromise now goes to the Senate, which may act next week. If the Senate approves as expected it will go to the President for signature.

Republicans argued bitterly against the new version and all but two of them lined up against it. Thirty-seven Democrats, many but not all from the South, joined Republicans in voting against it.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said he is delighted by the House action and described it as a vote of confidence for sensible long-range farm programs.

"It recognizes that the needs of the farmer and the rural community can best be met in the 1960s through a double-barrier approach of supply management to deal with abundance and the in-

DeGaulle Likes Popular Vote

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle formally proposed to the French nation last night that his successor be elected by popular vote.

De Gaulle said in a radio-television address that the question of changing the mode of electing the president of the republic will soon be put to the people in a popular referendum.

Nelson Rockefeller was greeted by wellwishers and a Rockefeller-Javits sign as he arrived in his New York City office upon his return from the Republican convention in Buffalo. West End Fair Profit About $4,500

GILBERT — The West End Fair Association will realize about $4,500 profit from the three-day fair this year Paul Everett, president, said last night.

He added, "Early figures show a total income of $14,957.05. Still to be received is about $400 in state reimbursements and about $100 in advertising bills to be collected." Everett listed expenses thus far have amounted to $11,001.50.

The association paid out $1,185.75 in prize money and will have paid around $1,377.34 for labor when the final tabulation is made. The kitchen grossed $3,002.97. Of this amount there was approximately $1,500 for dinners alone. Kitchen expenses will run about $2,065.24 according to Everett.

Tabulation of cars parked showed 4,340 from which $4,340.50 was collected for parking.

One other expense to the association was $600 for the operation of two horse shows this year. Everett noted that there was no admission charge for either of the 4-H open show or the West End Fair Association open horse show. Entries charges for the open show were nominal and not enough to cover expenses.

Everett said the association is making plans to improve the parking lot for next year and that the directors have several other features under discussion.

Liquor License Is Suspended

THE STATE Liquor Control Board Wednesday suspended the license of Stella J. Christopher Wargo, trading as Lakeside Inn, Lake Ariel, for 10 days effective Oct. 9, for sales to minors and permitting minors to frequent the premises.

Erie-Lackawanna Head Says Rails Transportation Vital

CLEVELAND — Growing awareness by the White House and the public that America desperately needs a modern transportation policy must now be recognized and activated by legislation in Congress, Milton G. McInnes, president of Erie-Lackawanna Railroad told the Shrine Luncheon Club.

Declaring that the public is the loser because of outmoded and inconsistent regulations, McInnes quoted President Kennedy's recent transportation message to Congress that "some carriers are prevented from making full use of their capacity by restrictions on freedom to solicit business or adjust rates."

"When one form of common carrier is forced to maintain artificially high rates to protect his competitor," Mr. McInnes said, "the public is paying literally millions of dollars more" for its food and other necessities of life.

The Erie-Lackawanna president pointed out that railroads "have been studied to death by just about every agency under the sun" and the reports and recommendations are "pretty well agreed that we are in trouble, that we are worth saving."

and that something should be done about it."

"Policies Sick"

"The railroads are sick because the nation's transportation policies are sick," McInnes charged. "The railroads have no Alladin's lamp. They can give sound public service only if they are given sound public policies with which to work."

McInnes said America needs a policy of transportation equality and fairness that will produce a progressive transportation system for the benefit of the shipper, the public and the nation. He explained that "with all carriers on an equal competitive basis, the customer rather than the government could then choose the form of transportation he wants to use based on true costs and services."

He pointed out that the railroads are using their limited financial resources to try to keep pace with "this age of technological miracles, but," he added, "all the technological devices and apparatus that can be devised will not solve our transportation problem if we are shackled hand and foot by antiquated policies and regulations at every government level."

Newspaper Advertising Scores More Sales than Other Media

The nation's local advertisers invested $2.7 billion in newspapers last year. That's six times as much as they spent in radio, nine times as much as in TV, three times as much in newspapers as in all other major media combined!

Herman C. Nolen, president of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., puts it this way: "We at McKesson feel that if you place an advertisement in a newspaper the result is—something happens. You get action."

Broader Industrial Buildup

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania Democrats proposed Thursday to broaden industrial development assistance to cover all areas of the state, and commercial establishments and research as well as industry.

The proposal was included in the platform adopted unanimously by the Democratic State Committee as the program for their 1962 fall gubernatorial campaign. They called it a "Program for Prosperity."

Most Algerian Voters Approve Ben Bella's Slate

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH ALGIERS (AP)—A substantial majority of Algerian voters Thursday approved Ahmed Ben Bella's 1962 fall gubernatorial campaign. They called it a "Program for Prosperity."

The massive turnout in the "yes only" election was a clear endorsement for the strong man and the political bureau he expects to bring stability to the troubled nation.

Official results were not yet available. Two hours before the polls closed, preliminary figures showed that at least 60 per cent of registered voters cast their ballot for Ben Bella's list.

The only way to register opposition to Ben Bella was to abstain from voting or spoil ballots.

Men and women stood in line for hours outside polling stations in predominantly Moslem districts. Closing of the polls had to be put back by two hours as officials were unable to keep up with the rush.

In the European districts of Algiers, voting picked up after a slow start. By late afternoon, Europeans also stood in line waiting to vote.

More than two-thirds of the city's 300,000 European inhabitants have left the country, but many of those still here decided to vote to show their willingness to cooperate with the new Moslem state.

There was no apparent interference with the voting in the areas west and south of Algiers controlled by the mutinous guerrilla Wilaya No. 4.

But in the Bainem Forest, some 10 miles west of Algiers, regular army forces surrounded a rampaging unit of Wilaya No. 4 troops suspected of killing a Belgian settler and his wife and kidnapping another Belgian couple.

Sullen and scruffy groups of Wilaya No. 4 soldiers reportedly lounged around village street corners and manned highway checkpoints in the 5,000 square miles under their control south and west of Algiers.

The Wilaya leaders call the election illegal. Most of them were eliminated from the list of candidates.

Van Zandt Says JFK Backed Down

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U.S. Rep. James E. Van Zandt said Thursday President Kennedy had backed down on a 1960 campaign promise to help the unemployment problem in the steel industry.

At a Republican rally in suburban Dormont, Van Zandt said in a prepared speech that Kennedy "had a lot to say in the 1960 campaign about the fact that the steel industry was operating at only 50 to 55 per cent of capacity and indicated that if he were elected, all this would be changed."

"Yet today the national unemployment rate remains just about where it was when the campaign pledge was made," added Van Zandt, the GOP candidate for U.S. Senator.

Van Zandt said Pittsburgh area unemployment increased by about 14,000 from October 1961 to last July.

"I wonder if those 94,300 jobless people in this area remember the President's 1960 campaign promise to 'get this country moving again,'" Van Zandt said.

"There must be some question among them as to what direction he had in mind to move."

Van Zandt also attacked the Kennedy administration for what he said was neglect in allocating federal research and development contracts to the Pittsburgh area.

"The Pittsburgh area ranks eighth in the nation in the number of persons qualified for employment in research and development activity," he said. "About $100 million is spent here annually for such work, but most of it comes from private capital."

Wayne 'Y' Board Names Officials

HONESDALE — A chairman pro tem and seven new directors were named to the Wayne County YMCA board at a recent meeting in the J. J. Koehler School.

The board set Nov. 1 to 15 as the dates for the 1962 Wayne County YMCA fund campaign.

Mrs. George Stanton was named chairman pro tem to complete the year's term of Robert Miles, who resigned.

New directors are: John Sutton and Mrs. Bernard Williams, Waymart; Mrs. Robert Robacker, Newfoundland; Fred Harney and Mrs. Richard Frisch, Honesdale; the Rev. Robert Mark, Hawley, and Clayton Crum, Beachlake.

Carl Spangenberg, finance committee chairman, reported that the 1961 drive brought in $3,285. Of this $2,770 was donated in Honesdale by 454 contributors and $515 in the remainder of Wayne County by 171 contributors who had been contacted by mail.

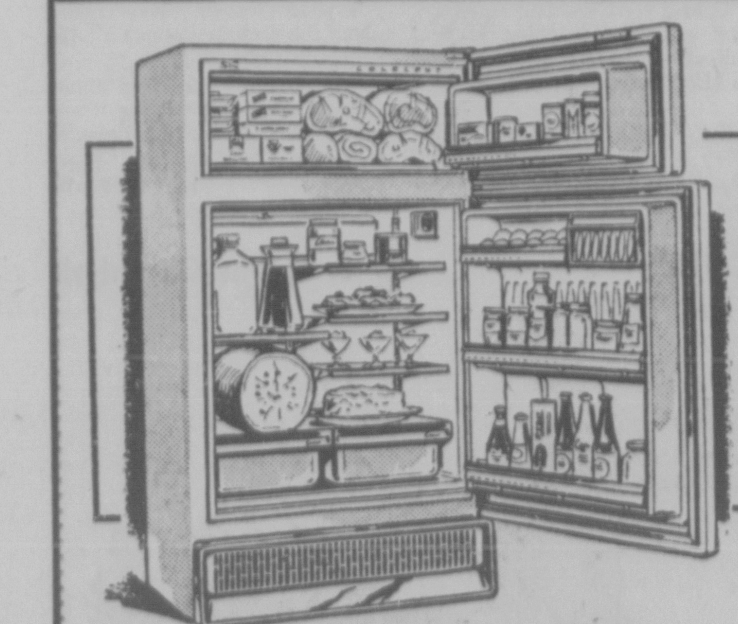

The committees are making plans for a fall and winter program to be presented to the board at the next meeting, Oct. 22.

Court Rules Woman Must Return Support Money

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A Montgomery County Court told Mrs. Ruth Levitz, 44, of Pottstown to return to her estranged husband $9,753 support money.

Neither the Montgomery County Court, nor the Pennsylvania Superior Court believed her story of going to a hotel room with a New York businessman to clean spaghetti sauce off his necktie.

The testimony was reviewed Wednesday for Judge David E. Groshens and a jury of eight women and four men. Sidney de Angelis, lawyer for the husband, reviewed the case.

He said when Levitz, who now runs a furniture store in Tucson, Ariz., and his wife were estranged in 1957, the husband was ordered to pay weekly support of $140 for the wife and $25 for a child.

Levitz opposed the order, alleging his wife committed adultery with a Philadelphia businessman. She denied it.

The lawyer said that in 1958, Levitz and a private detective entered a hotel room near Camden, N. J., and found Mrs. Levitz with the New Yorker. Levitz asked the court to revoke the support order.

Several hearings ensued. At one the story of the sauce was related.

The court denied Levitz' petition, but he carried it to the Superior Court. The Superior Court upheld his plea and stopped the $140 payment on the ground the wife committed perjury when she testified she had not committed adultery.

In June, 1960, Levitz sued to recover the support he paid before the court order halted it. It was on that suit that Wednesday's decision was made.

The jury also deliberated 20 minutes but decided not to award him interest.

$2 Million Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. has received a $2 million prime contract to supply two 600,000-kilowatt turbine generators for Edison-Volta S.P.A., Italy's largest electric utility.

Much of the equipment will be made by Italian firms licensed by Westinghouse, the announcement said.

One Taxpayer's Family

Ten thousand dollars a year is an above-average income, and the Government lays heavy taxes upon it. Such earners are considered the "affluent" in our supposedly "affluent society," and it is presumed that they live in the lap of luxury. Who could ask for anything more?

A Washington newspaper suddenly had an idea. Why not ask them? So out went a reporter to find out what such a family wanted. A man, wife and three children were located, who lived on a $10,000 salary.

It turned out that this family, living in Washington's steamy climate, hankered for one, or even two room air conditioners. They would like to have a new kitchen range. Their home could use about $5,000 worth of repairs and renovations, and if they could afford it, they'd buy a stereo phonograph. A second car would be nice, too, with Washington's unhandy public transportation what it is.

Beyond this, they would like a sailboat, membership in a flying club and ski equipment.

So it appears that they lack some necessities, and would like these and some luxuries. With an income like that, why don't they buy them?

It was also revealed in Washington a few days before, that relief clients (who didn't belong on the rolls legally anyway), were buying just such luxuries on time payments. This $10,000 a year family is sacrificing its tax money to pay for them.

One reliever owned up to purchasing a $410 stereo phonograph just like our $10,000 a year family would like to own and can't afford to buy. Others were buying TV sets, refrigerators and other flossy items they didn't work for, even though they were able to work.

Taxes take about 30 percent of the income of such a "high income family," which accounts for their hot, sleepless nights, the obsolete stove and the unpaired home. The things this family can't buy adversely affect employment.

This is something to remember when it's argued that Government spending is needed to "stimulate" the economy. What the Government spends, it spends instead of letting those who earned it spend it. That's all.

Stirring Up Interest

Who would support a campaign to have a driver's license to every 16-year-old, just because 16-year-olds are eligible to take a driver's test?

Hardly anyone in his right mind, is the answer.

The way is open for interested 16-year-olds to take the test and no one would seriously consider doing away with the testing requirements.

But look at the aims of the Pennsylvania Citizens Non-Partisan Register and Vote Committee.

The committee hopes to register every Pennsylvanian of voting age and to encourage him to vote in every election.

On the surface that seems a laudable aim, but is it?

An "interested and informed electorate" has been considered a safeguard of democracy.

How "interested and informed" would an electorate be were it to be made up largely of people who had no interest in voting, but only responded to a public

The Responsibility Of Congress

Everywhere one hears these days about the power of the President, the authority of the President, the President's program, etc. True, the President is the chief executive of the nation who functions through a vast and overpowering bureaucracy.

Originally, all bureaus and agencies were organized within departments at the head of which was a member of the President's Cabinet. This was an orderly system of government.

The functions of the President became more numerous because Congress delegated new authorities and responsibilities to the President and created many independent agencies. Thus, it was Congress which increased Presidential functions and responsibilities.

The actual center of power, according to the Constitution, is not vested in the President but in Congress. In fact, the Constitution places the legislative authority first, Congress can impeach a President but a President cannot dismiss any member of Congress.

True, a President may veto a bill passed by Congress, but the Congress may pass it over the President's head by a two-thirds vote of those present. The President may, in the conduct of foreign policy, reach agreements with foreign nations but if they involve expenditures, the agreements are worthless unless the expenditures are sanctioned by Congress.

However, the business of government has grown too large and too complex for Congress to

The 'Friendly' Campaign

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook:

Ole Bill & Ole Dick — Most certainly the current governorship campaign has been one of those peculiar affairs insofar as first name usage (and some other names too) is concerned.

There's no specific explanation for it — formally — in either the Democratic or Republican camps, but over the past couple of months Democrats in referring to their candidate for the governorship, Richardson Dilworth, quite frequently refer to him as "Dick Dilworth" this or that.

Similarly Republicans in speaking of their gubernatorial hopeful have more and more come to refer to William W. Scranton as just plain old "Bill Scranton."

Of course the idea is to get as close as possible to all we ordinary folks — and psychologically the approach unquestionably is the proper one in trying to reach this admirable goal. . . . But it wasn't like this before! . . . We don't recall in the past 1958 gubernatorial of the brethren then referring to their candidates endearingly as "Dave" Lawrence or "Artie" McGonigle (the latter having been the unsuccessful GOP candidate).

What with both candidates this year quite a number of steps from the poorhouse and

Try and Stop Me

The late Fred Allen, one of the canniest and best-loved personalities in all show business, spotted the drift in television early in the game. "The only performers who will last in this medium," he predicted accurately, "will be the pointers." Pointers never do anything themselves. They merely stand in the center of the stage, point to another performer, and announce, "See that fellow? He's going to do the darndest trick you ever saw! Then the other fellow comes out and does the trick. A week later, the pointer is back gesturing at somebody else, but the fellow who did the great trick has already given his all and is out in the cold. TV can eliminate pointers if times get tough enough. They can teach dogs to do the same routine simply by smearing meat on the actors'!

Blockade Against Cuba Opposed By Rusk

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, Sept. 21: — Secretary of State Dean Rusk is opposing any new moves against Communist Cuba until it can be determined what support the U. S. can count on from Latin American countries and members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Sharply questioned at this week's closed door meeting of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees, Rusk reluctantly admitted that he is against a naval blockade or the recognition of a Cuban government-in-exile.

He flatly denied that the Monroe Doctrine is being abandoned by the Kennedy Administration, arguing that only "the method of carrying it out has been altered."

Rusk made his position on a blockade known when Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., pressed him to speculate on the consequences of such action.

"If we tried to enforce a unilateral blockade, we would meet the political opposition of most of our allies," declared the grim-faced Rusk. "I doubt very much that any one of our allies would resist that by force, but I think they will reserve their rights freely and would take such political action as they could to get us to reverse the action."

Secretary Rusk backed away from supporting a Cuban government in exile for almost the same reason, stating:

"I think we would have great difficulty internationally in getting others to go along with it now."

Shaking his head in disbelief of what Rusk had said, Senator

Inside You And Yours

Vitamins, Minerals, Food

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Q: How do B vitamins work inside the body?

A: Instead of burning food into energy with fire and flames, oxygen and energy are transferred from chemical to chemical in bucket-brigade fashion.

Most B vitamins and vitamin C have special places in this bucket brigade. Without them, your body has trouble changing food into energy.

Q: Can vitamin E deficiency explain my eight miscarriages?

A: Probably not. Even the poorest diets contain enough vitamin E.

Defective fertilized egg cells, not vitamin lack, radioactivity or overexercise, are more likely to blame.

Q: Can you drink too much milk?

A: Yes. Too much milk leaves no room or appetite for other foods.

Tired Blood!

Babies fed only milk for a year or so used to develop milk anemia (thinned blood).

The cure? Lots of iron-containing blood-building foods.

Q: Can whole wheat cereal cause dry, scaly skin?

A: Find out! Avoid all whole wheat products for several weeks. If your rash clears, you're probably allergic to some chemical in wheat.

If scales persist, lubricate skin with lanolin after brushing away loose scales with a soft, soapy brush.

Three capsules of Alpha-Keri® in your daily bath sometimes works magic on dry, scaly skin.

Q: How does salt preserve foods?

A: It mixes with food juices to make salty brine. This keeps germs from growing and spoiling the food.

Cure For Anemia

Q: Do bananas cure anemia?

A: Not any more than cooking in iron pots does. Like most fruits, each banana contains a pinch of iron—and every little bit helps when fighting anemia caused by iron deficiency. Liver and meats help more.

Q: Which vitamins should you take to help prevent colds?

A: None, providing you eat a balanced diet of meat, milk fruits and vegetables, whole wheat or enriched cereal and bread and other foods.

Many intelligent people swear by giant doses of vitamin C (500 mg. daily) but medical tests have never been able to prove these sworn statements.

What's your pet food question?

Dear Abby

It All Depends, Sir!

DEAR ABBY: We have a daughter who is 34 years old. She graduated from the State University so you know she is no dummy. She has been going with a divorced man for the past five years. According to her they have no plans for marriage. This man told our daughter that the best check he writes out every month is the one for his alimony, and he doesn't care to get married again. Our daughter is satisfied just to "go" with him. She has her own apartment and is self-supporting, but we think someone ought to tell her that "going" with a man with no marriage in sight is not respectable. Or do you think it is?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED UP: Buy your in-laws a yearly subscription to the newspaper for their Christmas, anniversary or birthday presents.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 30 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

DEAR CHARLESTOWN: It is your daughter's privilege to "go with a man" if she chooses. Whether it is "respectable" or not depends on where she goes with him . . . and how far.

DEAR ABBY: When I was hired for this job I wasn't told that I would have to take vitamin pills every morning. Our boss is a real nut on the subject and she stands right over your desk to make sure you take the vitamin pills. Now I am 33 years old and I don't need anyone to tell me what's good for me. These pills come up on me (excuse me) and I have a very disagreeable taste in my mouth all morning. Must I quit a good paying job over something so foolish?

ANTI-VITAMIN PILLS

DEAR ANTI: Tell your boss (confidentially) that the pills disagree with you and I'm sure they won't be "brought up" (excuse me?) again.

DEAR ABBY: My wife's parents live downstairs and we live upstairs. Every evening her old man comes up here and asks if we are through with the newspaper. Sometimes we are and sometimes we aren't, but we always give it to him just to be nice. If a page is missing I get a telephone call and have to hunt it up and bring it down. I

Firemen Battle Blaze For 2 Hours

EAST Stroudsburg's Acme Hose Co. No. 1 battled a fire on a property owned by A. M. Price in the 400 block of N. Courtland St. for almost two hours yesterday.

Fire Chief Herman F. Meinhardt said the blaze apparently was started by a wood fire in a kitchen stove of an apartment in the building.

Meinhardt said the blaze smoldered for some time before it was discovered. It burned through the floors of the dining room and kitchen and dropped into an unused storeroom on the first floor.

No one was injured and no one was at home at the time. Meinhardt said the property is occupied by a family named Davis.

Youth Shoots Self Accidentally

AN ELDRED Township youth accidentally shot himself in the right foot about 6:20 p.m. yesterday while target shooting in a field near his home.

State Police at Leighton identified him as Clair Berger, 14, Kunkletown RD 2. He told troopers he aimed his .22-caliber rifle at a tree when it slipped out of his left hand and his right finger, in the trigger guard of the weapon, discharged it.

The bullet hit between the second and third toes of his right foot. The youth was treated at the office of Dr. John J. Martucci, Brodheadsville, and discharged.

MP's Trial To Continue At Milford

MILFORD — Trooper Fred Dineen of the Milford barracks, Pennsylvania State Police, will resume testifying this morning at the trial of a former Vandling man charged with drunken driving and involuntary manslaughter as the result of an accident last June 21 near here.

Air Force Sgt. Richard Hughes, 35, Newark, N.J., is being tried before a jury in Pike County Court with Judge Fred W. Davis presiding.

Hughes, attached to an Air Police detachment at New York, was the driver of a military vehicle which smashed into a state-owned car and plunged into a field along Route 6.

A prisoner in Hughes' custody at the time was fatally injured.

Testifying Wednesday were Sgt. C. L. Horton, dispatching sergeant at the AFP headquarters in New York; John R. Hughes, 66, Vandling, father of the defendant; George Echard, Elizabeth, Pa.; Shirley Katz, Matamoras, a nurse at a Port Jervis, N.Y., hospital, and James Conlan, Scranton, safety engineer at the Scranton District Office of the State Highway Department.

Conlan was followed by Joseph Fadden, administrative officer at the local PDH office, and Trooper Dineen.

Two Hurt In Crash

Conlan and Fadden were hurt in the crash.

The defendant's father testified that his son and two other men appeared at his Vandling home about noon on the day of the crash. Sgt. Hughes asked his father to return to Newark with him.

Hughes, under cross-examination, said his son had one glass of beer at his home and another at a Vandling tavern where they stopped to purchase tobacco.

The witness also reported that the military vehicle appeared to "sway" on curves as they headed toward Milford.

Miss Katz told of smelling alcohol on Sgt. Hughes' person and clothing when he was brought to the hospital, but — under cross-examination — said she was unable to say whether he was drunk.

The Elizabeth man, who was driving on Route 6 at the time of the accident, testified that the military vehicle passed his car, pulled back into the right lane and then ran off the road onto a soft shoulder.

Conlan, who was driving the state-owned car, said he saw the military vehicle out of control, strike guard rails, bounce off and hit the state car and then crash into a field.

Attorney Sidney Krawitz of Milford is defense counsel.

Wayne Home Destroyed By Fire

HONESDALE — The home of Eugene Herzog, Texas Township, Wayne County, about eight miles southeast of Honesdale, was destroyed by fire Wednesday afternoon.

Herzog, a secretary at the Kilroe Seminary, Bethany, was at work at the time when the fire broke out in the 3½-room structure.

The blaze was discovered by William Edsall, who was on his way home from work in a factory at White Mills. He tried to sound the alarm from several nearby homes but could find no one at home, so he had to drive about two miles before reaching a telephone.

Firemen from Hose 1 of Honesdale were first at the scene and were later joined by firemen from White Mills, but the house was engulfed in flames when they arrived. However, they did manage to save an addition which Herzog was building to the main structure. The owner said the flames claimed all his personal possessions, including clothing, antique furniture, an expensive camera and other items. Untouched by the flames was a religious shrine erected by Herzog some distance from the home.

The owner reported that his father had visited the home about 3 p.m., about a half hour before the fire was discovered. He said a gas stove might have exploded, causing the fire.

GOP Picks Up Slightly In Wayne Registration

HONESDALE — Wayne County commissioners at their weekly meeting approved application for grants from the liquid fuels fund of $3,670 to Palmyra Township and $550 to Prompton Borough.

Chief Clerk S. Elmore Haag reported that the voters registration had ended Monday night and that the total of new registrations is 252 Democrats, 296 Republican and 15 nonpartisan or independent; a total of 563 new registrants.

Bills ordered paid include allocations previously approved, to Honesdale Borough, $3,550; Clinton Township, $500 and $2,225; Canaan Township, $1,710.76. Total bills ordered paid amounted to $9,985.86 from the fuels tax fund and $519.33 from the county general fund.

Hobart Sockman, assistant to Ivan McKeever of the Soil Conservation Service, appeared before the commission in regard to completion of Pennsylvania Site 42 in the Greene-Dreher watershed. This matter was tabled until the next meeting.

The distribution of surplus food under the supervision of the commissioners' office, began yesterday morning at the courthouse.

Five Deeds Filed At Court House

FIVE DEEDS were filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeanette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder:

Megargel's Golf, Inc., Barrett Township, to R. LeRoy and Nell S. Dengler, Paradise Township, two properties in Paradise and Pocono Townships; Stewart L. and Ella M. Hufsmith, Delaware Water Gap, and John and Florence Lippman, Chestnut Hill Township, to Samuel and Anna Proskak, Saylorsburg, three properties in Chestnut Hill Township.

John J. Bucholtz, Brooklyn, N. Y., to Edwin C. Gardner, Schnecksville RD 1, property in Polk Township; Pocono Lake-shore, Inc., to Samuel M. and Barbara J. Gabriano, New Market, N. J., property in Monroe Lake Shores; Wright Jr. and Jo Ann T. Gibson, Hagerstown, Md., to George W. and Dorothy A. Camfield, West Trenton, N. J., property in Barrett Township.

The House Of The Week

Room For You To Grow At Bargain Rate

By JULES LOH
There was a young couple, the Smiths,
Who felt kids were the finest of gifts.
But their house was no mansion,
And with family expansion,
They were soon forced to live there in shifts.

Some would consider it most unsympathetic, if not downright cruel, to poke fun at the plight of the Smiths. As nearly everyone knows—usually from woeful experience—an outgrown house isn't something you can laugh off easily.

Fortunately we have something a good deal more comforting than a limerick to offer all the overcrowded Smiths across the land: House of the Week J-39. It was designed by architect Herman H. York.

The model is basically a one-story design containing three bedrooms, two full baths and a lavatory, living room, dining room, kitchen and adjoining dinette, and a dramatic early American style family room. It also contains a full basement and two-car garage.

But the bedroom area has been designed with rafters high enough to provide room for two future bedrooms and a third full bath without making any structural changes.

If the two additional bedrooms aren't needed, the space still is ideal for a guest room, or perhaps a den—someplace to go to get away from it all, or watch the ballgame on TV, or write limericks.

The expansion area adds 528 square feet to the 1,916 square feet of living area in the basic house. The garage adds another 400 square feet, and the covered portico 102 square feet. The overall dimensions of the home are 74 feet six inches wide by 43 feet eight inches deep. The plans show the garage doors located on the side of the house, but if the lot isn't wide enough to accommodate a side driveway the doors could as easily be put in front.

Additional Details

Having bedrooms located on different levels of a home usually isn't a satisfactory arrangement, but in this house it works out perfectly. Its design, viewed either from the inside or outside, is such that the bedroom area in effect is a separate wing set at right angle to the housekeeping section and removed from all the noise.

The expansion feature, however, is only one of many advantages this home offers. Throughout, it is the product of real craftsmanship. The family room, down two steps from the main level, is a warm and cozy spot for informal relaxation. It has a beam ceiling, huge fireplace with a wood box in brick, and architect York suggests random oak floors and wood finished walls. "The owner also should take extra care in furnishing the room," York said, "to retain the early American flavor."

The kitchen of this house is in front, and the window over the sink offers a view of the front yard through the covered portico. The kitchen work area is a model of efficiency with plenty of counter space and no less than 40 linear feet of base and wall cabinets.

The foyer features a double door entry with an open railing stair framing the opening into the living room. Note also that the coat closet door doesn't swing open into the foyer.

All this attention to decor and detail doesn't mean architect York has overlooked economy in construction. For example, the bathrooms in the bedroom area are placed back to back, and the

Wood and Walls The Same
WOODWORK should usually be enamelled the same color as the walls to give the feeling of greater size. There are two exceptions to this general rule, however. If your room is particularly large, then the different color on the wood will not make the room look small. Secondly, ornately carved woodwork is often emphasized by enamelling it in a color different from the walls.

RESEARCH is uncovering all sorts of treatments for wood. One chemical hardens wood, another makes it impervious to fire, and still another makes it resistant to water.

Joey Barnes Acts Part Of Salesman

TV COMEDIAN Joey Barnes (Joey Bishop) tries to cure his hospitable wife Ellie (Abby Dalton) of her irresistible desire to buy things she doesn't need from every pitchman with a hard-luck story. In the "Door-to-Door Salesman" color broadcast episode of "The New Joey Bishop Show" Saturday, Oct. 6 (NBC-TV, 8:30 p.m. EDT).

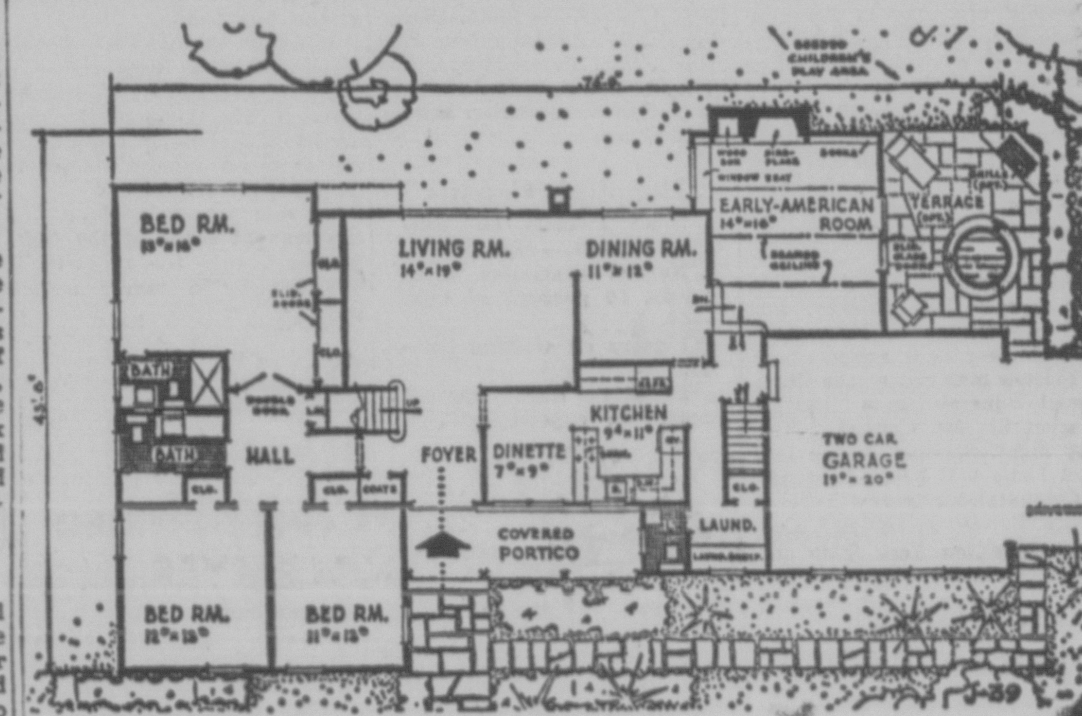

As Joey leaves for the studio, he advises Ellie to recite nursery jingles whenever the urge to buy becomes strong. Ellie falls the test when a salesman (Buddy Lewis) pleads with her to buy a can opener she doesn't need. Later, when Joey returns, Ellie is proud of not buying anything from salesman Charles Porter (Fuzzy Knight). She just promised him a spot on Joey's nightly TV program.

Don't Tamper

YOU may remember how dad used to add a bit of oil or turpentine to the house paint when you were a youngster. But don't you do that without first reading the label on the paint can. Modern paints are delicately balanced chemical compounds and they should not be tampered with by adding anything unless the instructions specifically say so.

Eye Stopper

ONE ingenious housewife, tired of the drab exterior of her home, installed rough-sawn cedar tongue-and-groove boards on the front of the house, sprayed them white to contrast with the brown of the rest of the siding. The face lifting was an eye stopper.

FLOOR PLANS: Main level contains 1,678 square feet of living area plus 238 square feet family room and 400 square foot garage. Attic expansion, over bedroom wing, would add 528 square feet. Garage doors could be located in front if lot is too narrow for side entry.

Greenhouse Requires No Special Heating Unit

UP TO a few years ago, greenhouse gardening was considered a rich man's sport but today, thanks to a simplified, low cost method of construction, almost everyone can afford to build and operate this greenhouse. By building the house adjacent to a cellar door, basement or first floor window, no special heating unit is required.

If you decide to build the greenhouse over a basement entry door, you gain having an enclosed entry hall that keeps cold blasts from entering the basement, but also permits waste basement heat to operate the greenhouse.

In constructing the test house, we removed the remains of a pair of rotted, wooden cellar doors and broken concrete steps leading to the cellar. Termites had eaten into the frames and one concrete wall was cracked beyond repair.

The door to basement was hinged to open in. By keeping the basement door slightly ajar during the winter, normal basement heat kept the greenhouse at proper temperature thus eliminating any need for a special heating unit. A basement window or one on the first floor can also be used in the same manner.

While the pattern explains how to build a greenhouse measuring eight by nine feet, it can be built to any other size by following the procedure outlined. This provides for geraniums, dahlias and begonias etc. to be grown the year round.

In upper New York State and in areas where zero and below-zero weather is not uncommon, satisfactory temperatures were maintained in the test greenhouse.

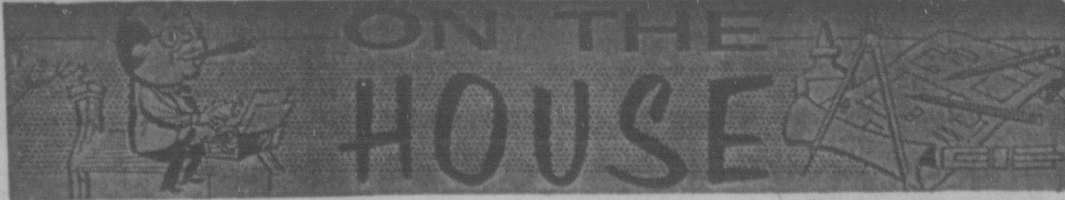

Even when the thermostat was set as low as 60 degrees, the furnace threw off sufficient heat to keep the greenhouse at operating temperatures.

Anyone who can follow simple understand illustrations should step by step directions and easy to have no difficulty in building this greenhouse. Every step of construction is clearly described in language anyone can understand. The pattern offered below contains a complete list of materials that specifies what to buy, where each is used. Pattern tells how to build a rack for plant boxes from one inch galvanized pipe, the boxes from two by six spruce.

One family who built this greenhouse used plexiglass to cover the roof. Instead of the hot bed sash which the pattern suggests, they use the greenhouse as a solarium and enjoy sunbathing all winter long.

INCREASED leisure time has made it possible for a family to spend more time in a home away from home. Just as the automobile industry discovered a large area of expansion in the "second car" market, so is the building industry meeting a growing demand for second homes.

These homes generally are used for weekends and vacations, which means they usually are within 50 or 100 miles of the owners' regular dwellings. Prefabricated houses are very popular in this category, since smaller, less expensive structures can be erected quickly when the components are built at a factory on a mass basis. Of course, prefabricated housing has now reached a stage where homes of any size can be — and are being — constructed. But it is getting an especially big play in the second-home market.

When the buyer of a second home wishes to save some of the labor costs by doing part of the work himself, he can get a shell house. This is not a precise term, since shell houses come in various stages of completion, depending on how much work the new owner can or wishes to do.

Prospective purchasers should be certain they know exactly what has to be done to make the home complete. They also should investigate all aspects of the financing, since mortgages may be difficult to obtain until the house is finished. But for those who are handy, decided savings can be effected.

Don't Forget

WHEN you repaint your home this fall, don't overlook such articles as garbage cans, swings, sand boxes and sheds. If they are not painted, too, they will look shabby and detract from the fresh as paint look of your home. And that goes for fences, too.

THE Douglas fir tree, America's most prolifically used commercial lumber species, was first sighted by Captain George Vancouver, famed English explorer as he cruised along Puget Sound in 1792.

"Our Estimate IS OUR PRICE . . . NO EXTRAS"

In the majority of cases, the buyers of second homes already have the lots, which they purchased on time or with cash. This gives them the advantage of week-ending or vacationing at places of their own choosing. But many builders have bought large tracts of land in desirable locations, then built and sold second homes.

There was a time when any family with more than one home was considered a member of the upper-bracket set. And with good reason. It just didn't seem practical for families in the middle-income area to buy houses in which they would spend only a couple of weeks during the year. These days, with extended week-ends, longer vacations and additional days-off holidays, a considerable part of the year can be spent in second homes.

QUESTION: My hobby is making wooden cabinets and other wooden articles that aren't too large. Until recently, I had been painting them or occasionally using varnish.

Now I am using a spray gun. Most projects seem to come out all right, but I have trouble whenever I have to spray the inside corners of something. More paint seems to set on one or both sides of the corner than in the corner itself. Can you tell me what I am doing wrong?

ANSWER: It is difficult to answer this question without knowing exactly how you are using the

WHEN you consider that the life of a quality paint job is six years or longer, you'll realize the false economy of buying cheap paint that won't last as long. Prorated over the life of the job, the difference in cost between the best paint you can buy and so-called bargains is very small.

spray gun. The best guess is that you are pointing the spray gun directly at the corner and moving it vertically. This is an accepted method, but beginners sometimes get the result you mention. Generally, this condition will correct itself as you gain experience.

However, you may do even better by not pointing the gun at the corner. Instead, point it at one panel about two or three inches from the corner and spray vertically. Then point it at the other panel the same distance away. The chances are this will place sufficient paint in the corner. No matter which method you use, you're going to have to experiment on scrap wood until you get the hang of it.

Swedish Girl Is Exchange Student At Pocono Joint

SWIFTWATER — Ingrid Anna Christina Helm, daughter of Vicar and Mrs. Thure Helm of St. Olaf, Sweden, is an exchange student attending 11th grade classes in the Pocono Mountain Joint High School.

She was picked by a committee of Rotarians in the district which is located in the southwestern part of Sweden.

Miss Helm was nominated to come to America for one year. District 741 of Rotary International, which is composed of Rotary Clubs in Northeastern Pennsylvania, assigned her to be a guest of the Rotary Club of the Pocono Mountains at Cresco and the Mt. Pocono Rotary Club.

At the present time, Ingrid is living with Mr. and Mrs. George Webb of Cresco, and will be hosted in turn by Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Hendrick of Mt. Pocono, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Koerner of Pocono Manor, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd LaBar of Mountainhome.

Promote Understanding

Rotary International feels that one way to promote international understanding is through the Rotary Foundation, which fosters exchange students on both college and secondary levels.

By living in homes of nationals of the country visited, the exchange student learns at first hand about that country's customs, beliefs, ideals, educational institutions, and the many things which make a nation.

Ingrid's father is the Vicar of the Lutheran Church at St. Olaf and Mrs. Helm is a part-time school teacher. Her only brother is studying medicine at the University of Lund.

'Grading' To Be Aired At PTA Meet

NEWFOUNDLAND — "The Challenge of Grading and a Report to the Parents" will be the theme of the program at the opening meeting of the Southern Wayne Parent Teacher Association on Sept. 25 in the music room of the school. Carroll Fetherman, is in charge of the program.

Mrs. Russell VanBuskirk, Jr., of Panther, will preside during the business session. Mrs. Joyce Cyko is program chairman for the year.

The October meeting will be held on Oct. 23 instead of on the last Tuesday of the month, since the later date will fall on "Mischievous Night."

There will be two events in house, penny dinner, band concert and Educational Week observance on Nov. 16 at the school. A meeting has been scheduled for Nov. 25, when there will be reports on the Summer music program, Little League, and Keystone Girls State.

Dedication Service Sunday

STERLING — A Service of Dedication will be held during Sunday morning worship at the Hollisterville Methodist Church with the Rev. Dr. Earl V. Tolley, Superintendent of Scranton District, as the speaker.

Participating in the service will be the Rev. Roy J. Davis, minister of the church; Mrs. Jeanne Madden Martin, soloist; Arthur Williams, chairman of the official board; Harold Henneforth, chairman of the trustees.

To be dedicated are several articles of church furnishings, including a pulpit chair, side chairs, a new pulpit and light, new lighting fixtures, candleholders, silver crosses for the junior choir, a tray of communion glasses, a remodeled kitchen, new well and pump, a new furnace, and new electrical fixtures in the church basement.

Dr. Tolley will also speak at morning worship at the Sterling Methodist Church at 11:15 a.m.

'K' Sets Up Cuba Frontier

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Khrushchev has established a new frontier in Cuba while the Kennedy administration dreams of a new frontier on the moon," Rep. Ivor D. Fenton, R-Pa., said Thursday.

This goes to show that the administration is unrealistic, he asserted, and that this country ought to take a stronger stand against those he said plan its downfall "instead of providing more billions of foreign aid dollars to support and maintain unfriendly nations."

Fenton said the Kennedy administration "better face the realities of life and put their utopian ideas in mothballs before it is too late."

U.S. To Help Iran Rebuild

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A special government committee says the United States, Sweden and Norway have offered to rebuild three villages in Iran's earthquake zone where 10,000 persons were killed recently.

Iran has agreed to the proposal and the United States intends to build 1,000 houses under its own direction, the committee said.

Two earthquake orphans were reported to have died yesterday from the cold in the earthquake zone. About 10,000 tents, 8,000 of them furnished by the United States, are being erected in the area.

THE WINNER — Denis Lora, one of the stars of the TV show, The Big Payoff, congratulates John Ball a policeman of Niagara Falls, N. Y., whose wife, Teresa, displays mink coat she won on the show when it was filmed at Mt. Airy Lodge, Cresco. With them are Bob Paige, also a star of the show, and Vicki Young, of Merry Hill Lodge where the Balls were guests. The show was filmed at Mt. Airy recently. It will be shown Friday, Sept. 28 on TV.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

It was a better day—much better for almost everybody it seems: the school kids got to the end of the school week a whole day early on account of teachers institute; the teachers don't have the day off but at least they didn't have to make lesson plans last week; and most of the women I talked to were rushing through the day to get to the fashion show at Tamiment—and all the models were getting their hair set, and the "same old rut" seemed to be crumbling at the edges, or at least getting dried out.

The Skittlers started bowling and made more noise cheering than knocking over pins since some of the golfing members seemed to be scoring golf scores instead of bowling scores.

Even I felt better—primarily because I had two important stories in type instead of butting each other around in my head: one on Bob Kintner and the other on John Eaton—both of whom, in their own way, have far outgrown us—but still belong to us.

Somebody for us to brag about beyond the confines of our own little circle, people whose names are recognized as important. Wherever I went in Rome—and even in Pisa, the name of John Eaton was one to conjure with. And the boys who used to split a pie with Bob Kintner at the high school hangout—or start out with him at the drop of a hat in Bill Morton's old car for New York—have innumerable stories to tell about "Shrimp" Kintner, a nickname I doubt if any of the mighty empire of talent he rules are apt to call him these days.

While we have earned no part of their success, and few of us, given the same environment and opportunities, have attained any considerable success of our own—it makes us feel important to be able to say "I knew them when."

Not quite as important as I'm going to feel today when for the first time since Art Everitt stopped doing the social page for me on my night off I'm going to have one—a regular night off every week. How you'll manage until Mon-

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. Balmer (Lawrence Studio)

Miss Grace P. Treible Bride Of Curtis Balmer

Miss Grace P. Treible, daughter of Mrs. Jane Treible and the late Lloyd W. Treible, of 403 Normal Street, East Stroudsburg, became the bride of Curtis N. Balmer, on Saturday, Sept. 1, at 2 o'clock in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mr. Balmer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Balmer, of Livingston, N. J. Rev. William F. Wunder officiated at the double ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with matching bouquets of white chrysanthemums, white asters and mums and candelabras. Stephen Predmore served as acolyte. The organist, Mrs. William Petecovic, presented wedding music and James Werkheiser sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." During the ceremony, as the couple knelt at the altar, the soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bride, escorted by Elwood Walter, of Hazardsville, Conn., wore a gown of taffeta and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a sabrina neckline of lace with accents of tiny sequins and seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists, and a bouffant skirt had an insert of Chantilly lace and a chapel train. A princess crown of seed pearls held her finger tip veil of silk illusion, with hand rolled hem, edged with tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, pink and white sweetheart roses with trailing ivy.

Miss Audrey Treible, of San Diego, Calif., served as her sister's maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of light horizon blue taffeta, fashioned with brief sleeves, V neckline and a bell silhouette skirt with a bow accenting the fitted waist line. Her headpiece was a matching crown of horsehair with tiny sequins and a circular nose veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of apricot carnations and ivy.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Shirley Applegate Miller, of East Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Gail Balmer Cusheill, sister of the bridegroom, East Orange, N. J. Miss Gretchen Lynne Treible, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses of apricot taffeta in the same style, with matching headpieces and also carried cascade bouquets of apricot carnations with trailing ivy.

The bride chose Karen Horn as her flower girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horn, Oakwood Ave., Stroudsburg. Her dress was of white nylon organza over blue taffeta, fashioned with a full skirt, cap sleeves and a Peter Pan collar with nylon lace trim. The waistline was trimmed with a band of embroidered flowers, lace and a large bow in the back. She wore white bows in her hair, and white shoes, socks and gloves, and carried a basket of white daisies, apricot carnations, baby breath and asters.

Ronald Balmer, of East Stroudsburg, served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Alvin Kresge, Tamersville; Robert Leck, Livingston, N. J., and Gery Guttenberger, Cedar Grove, N. J. The bride's mother greeted the guests in a sheath dress with matching jacket of blue nylon lace over taffeta. She wore a hat of white feathers, white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a full skirted dress of beige and green organza over silk with an embroidered bodice, green hat and green and beige accessories. She also wore a corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for all the guests was held in the social rooms of the church, which had been decorated for the occasion. The bride had a centerpiece of white gladiolus, daisies and carnations and tall white candles. A four-tier wedding cake placed in front of the table completed the decoration. Mrs. Martha Morris served the punch. For traveling, the bride chose a brown and white jacket dress of dacron and cotton with beige and

College And Careers For County Night

The Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers is sponsoring the annual "College and Career Night" on Thursday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 in the East Stroudsburg High School.

Representatives of 30 colleges, men and women officers of the armed forces will be present. A film, "At the Ramparts" will be shown by officers of the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Parents of both junior and senior high school students are urged to save that date.

WSCS Honors Memory Of Mrs. Frantz

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church recently held the first Fall meeting in the church parlors. Mrs. Genevieve Elwell, president, had many future activities to present.

Mrs. Marie Rutt presided during devotions. There was an inspiring tribute paid to a former active member, Mrs. Nelson Frantz, who recently passed away.

Mrs. Iva Stimson narrated slides reporting on the WSCS Assembly in Atlantic City from May 15 to May 18, with 13,000 women in attendance.

Announcement was made that the Delaware Water Gap Methodist Church would be host to the caravan on Wednesday, Sept. 26, at 7:30.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hazel Coolbaugh and her committee.

Back To School Party Held By Smith Class

A "back to school" party followed the meeting of Mrs. Robert B. Smith's Class in the social rooms of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church this week. Refreshments were served from lunch pails and boxes, with numbers being drawn for the lunches.

Mrs. Almira Schmidt took the part of the teacher with Mrs. Lucy Ellenberger as principal. Mrs. Ellenberger read the fun minutes.

The party followed the lesson, taught by Mrs. Smith, on gates mentioned in the Bible.

The committee included Mrs. Mabel Henry, Mrs. Ruth Marshall and Mrs. Hattie Frantz.

JOHN EATON, PIANIST, left, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton of East Stroudsburg, will return from musical triumphs in Rome to play with American Jazz Ensemble, headed by Eaton, and Clarinetist, Bill Smith, right, in one of the local Community Concert Series.

John Eaton Coming Home For Community Concert

Johnnie Eaton has a full beard. The beard may surprise the friends who watched him grow up in the Methodist Parsonage in East Stroudsburg or who went to school with him at East Stroudsburg High School but they won't be surprised that the beard is as red as his hair.

Some advance notice of the beard reached the home folks by way of travellers to whom "looking up Johnnie Eaton in Rome" was an important part of their tour as the Roman Curia or the Colosseum.

It will come as no surprise to fellow bandmen in the High School band, to the Woman's Club or Exchange Club or other groups for whom he played the piano as a child that at 27 he ranks about with the Colosseum as a figure of importance in the world of music, or that in his Home from Rome concert tour of this country he has been booked as the first local musician to appear on the Pocono Community Concert program.

The Community Concert memberships which go on sale next week are likely to be a sell-out just from the people who want to see Johnnie Eaton (Tickets for single performances are not available, and the only people who will be able to hear The American Jazz Ensemble, of which he is a leading figure, are members who join the Community Concert Assn.)

Just to see Johnnie Eaton will be enough for many local friends. Son of Rev. and Mrs. John Eaton, John's career has been watched with interest since his earliest performances. At graduation from East Stroudsburg High School he broke all records for the number of scholarships offered to him by the leading colleges and universities of the country.

He accepted a scholarship to Princeton, where he intended to prepare for a career in law. Triumphs in Triangle Club productions, the success of the jazz records he cut for Columbia with his own student combo, and his work with Roger Sessions turned his emphasis to music, and after touring the country with Flutist Herbie Mann and a jazz combo, he settled down to serious composition.

On a Prix de Rome scholarship, he has been living in Rome. His most ambitious work to date is an opera about the Ma Barker mob which appealed to him because "you need subhuman or superhuman characters in opera."

Concert Drive Kickoff Meeting Monday Night

The kick-off meeting of the Pocono Community Concert workers will be held Monday night at 7 at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, John Cunningham, Columbia Artists representative will be present to explain the campaign.

Robert Kranendonk, accompanied by Robert Currier, will present a program in song for the workers as a service to the community and the campaign.

The Community Concert Series have already scheduled the Westminster Choir and the American Jazz Ensemble for the season. Two more concerts will be chosen at the end of the campaign. Headquarters will be in the lobby of the Penn-Stroud Hotel, and anyone interested in memberships may call there beginning Tuesday. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

and because he hopes that the role of 220-pound Ma will "resuscitate the race of Wagnerian sopranos'.

While Eaton himself is the drawing card for local people, it is his music which has taken music-loving Italy by storm and gained rave notices in such publications as the Saturday Review and Time Magazine.

The Saturday Review said "Eaton obviously knows what he is doing — whether in his composed passages, or in his improvised counterpoint, his rhythm numbers, or his lovely ballad treatments" and call him "a rare and sensitive talent."

Time Magazine's Review of the first concert of the American Jazz Ensemble in Rome's 15th century Palazzo Pio called it "A group that has set avant garde standards to wagging the length of Italy."

Although to hear the local conversation, Eaton is the Jazz Ensemble, there are four other men in the ensemble. Co-founder and leader with Eaton is Clarinetist Bill Smith. The two met in Rome where Smith, a charter member of the original Brubeck Octet on leave from his composition teaching post at USC, was composing on a Guggenheim Fellowship.

The American Jazz Ensemble formed for fun, stirred up such enthusiasm that their concerts in

Dutch Treat Open To All Interested Or Interesting

A spurt in applications for membership in Dutch Treat Club is expected within the next ten days as the date of the opening dinner meeting, Thursday, Oct. 4, nears. The first speaker will be Lisa Howard whose topic is "Assignment—World Stage." It will be a dinner meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Wilmer Metzgar Surprised At Birthday Party

Mrs. Wilmer Metzgar surprised her husband on Saturday night with a birthday party in his honor held at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Custard, Craig's Meadow.

Music for round and square dancing was provided by Paul Williams and Dale Miller of Canadensis and Earl Price of East Stroudsburg. Adding to the entertainment was the singing and guitar music by Martin Custard and Earl Metzgar. Dolly Price recited a poem in honor of her brother, "Fifty Years Ago Today."

A buffet supper was served. Wilmer received many gifts and cards.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Andy Gunderson and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Norris, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William Schoonover, East Stroudsburg RD; Mrs. Dolly Price, Terry and Millard Price and Joe Barron, Cresco; Mr. and Mrs. William Halterman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Halterman and Tammy, Mrs. Emilie Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Custard, Martin Custard, Linda, Joyce and Earl Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Marland Halterman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyons Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lesoine, all of East Stroudsburg RD, Mrs. Margaret Stettler, East Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyons Jr. and Stephen Lyons of Maryland; Cornelius Vrolijk of Mountainhome, Judy Vrolijk of

Gilbert E. Dunning, starting his second year as president, pointed out that Dutch Treat is not an exclusive group; but is open to all "interested and interesting" people who gather together six times a year for dinner and a lecture to stimulate conversation and discussion.

In November Ralph Lee Smith is scheduled to speak on the first on "Biking of the Public;" January 3 will be on "The Sunny Side of Main St.," with Harold C. Kesinger; on Friday, Feb. 1, Felix Greene will speak on "China Revisited," and on March 7, Norman Garbo will give an illustrated lecture "Pull Up An Easel."

The final meeting of the year will be April 4 when Poppy Cannon is the speaker on "Adventures of a Taste Detective."

Luncheon For State Officer By Medical Society Aux.

The Women's Aux. to the Monroe County Medical Society will join with the Carbon County Aux. in giving a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Malcolm W. Miller, who will become the 38th president-elect of the Women's Aux. to the Pennsylvania Medical Society during its convention in Pittsburgh in October.

The luncheon will be held Tuesday, Sept. 25 at 12:30 at the Pocono Manor Golf Club.

Mrs. Miller, wife of a Philadelphia physician, was graduated from Overbrook Elementary School and West Philadelphia High School and was employed as a registered laboratory technician at the Lankenau Hospital until her marriage in 1934.

She has been active in medical auxiliary work in many capacities, including treasurer and president of the Philadelphia County Society. On the state level she was treasurer for three years and served as Councilor of the First District before becoming president-elect.

In community work, she organized the Lankenau Hospital Service League; headed the Cherry Red Hospital volunteers; was president of the Women's board and chairman of the entire volunteer program in 1960. Presently she is chairman of the Ladies Entertainment Committee of the American College of Physicians for their 1962 convention in Philadelphia. She is also active in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church of Ardmore.

They have three sons, all in medical school or college.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ralph Knope

Miss Lois Jean Getz Bride Of Larry Ralph Knope

Miss Lois Jean Getz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Getz, of Stroudsburg RD 5, was married to Larry Ralph Knope, son of Mrs. Bernice Knope, of 803 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich., on July 21 in St. John's Lutheran Church, Bartonsville.

Rev. Robert T. Zuch performed the ceremony. There were white asters in brass altar vases at the candlelit altar. Organ selections were played by Mrs. Mildred Cyphers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Schiffli embroidered tulle over taffeta with a scalloped sabrina neckline, embroidery edging on the front and back panel of the skirt, and the side panels of rows of ruffled tulle. A double crown held her veil of tulle and she carried a white bible with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

Her sister, Mrs. Judith A. Houck of 815 Swede St., Norristown, was her matron of honor. She wore a gown of pure silk organza in mint green with a white brimmed hat with mint green ribbons. She carried apricot carnations and daisies.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. John A. Klinger of Pottstown, wore a similar dress in yellow with yellow ribbons on her white hat and carried yellow and white carnations.

Charles M. Getz, brother of the bride, of Brodheadsville was best man. Ushers were William E. Houck of Norristown, brother-in-law of the bride, and Donald L. Getz, a brother.

The bride's mother wore a dress of powder blue embroidered cotton satin with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses, white carnations and blue daisies.

A reception for 75 guests was held at the VFW Home which was decorated in streamers of white, yellow and mint green with two large wedding bells over the bridal table. A four-tiered wedding cake and the flowers of the wedding party decorated the table.

For their wedding trip to Michigan, the bride wore a blue and white suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. They will reside with the bride's parents until they have completed their new home in Bartonsville.

The bride is employed by Shawnee Press, Inc., Delaware Water Gap; her husband by the State of Pennsylvania, Stroudsburg.

Injuries Mount

Mountaineers Lick Wounds

STROUD Union's Mountaineers are still licking their wounds from last Saturday's 26-6 shellacking by Lehigh.

His two co-captains — Halfback Tom Schatzman and Fullback Don Baylor — are doubtful starters for tonight's clash against Emmaus on enemy territory.

The injuries to the Mountaineers three key players stemmed from their opener last week. Both Baylor and Keiser have banged-up knees.

No Improvement This week, Baylor has only been running at half speed. And there was no noticeable improvement in his condition yesterday.

Stulgaits eyes Emmaus as a "good team," noting the Hornets' early wins over Parkland and Quakertown as examples.

Lehigh Opens 79th Season Tomorrow

BETHLEHEM — Lehigh's defending Lambert Cup champions will open their 79th football season at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday against Delaware in Taylor Stadium here, and Coach Mike Cooley's probable starting lineup includes eight players who were regulars in 1961.

Two of the returnees are senior backs who figure to add lustre to the 1962 Engineer offense. Quarterback Walt King and halfback Pat Clark, both two-letter players from York, are aiming for their finest seasons. The veterans in the line will include ends Harold Milton (Jacksonville, Fla.) and Andy Larko (Forty-Fort), tackle Charlie Gibson, (Verona), guard John Tencer (Springfield), and center Dan Berkey (Maplewood, N. J.).

The right halfback slot will go to either Jim Wilson (Montclair, N. J.) or Ed Winchester (Warwick, N. Y.), both senior veterans from 1961, and the rest of the lineup includes guard Freeman Goodrich (Berwick, Maine) tackle Bill Rezak (Syracuse, N. Y.) and either junior Jim Miller (Metuchen, N. J.) or sophomore Mike Noel (York) at fullback.

Union eleven last year by an 18-6 count, despite the fact Stulgaits claims it was "the best game we played all year."

"It was just one of those games," the coach reflected, where we got a lot of bad breaks which actually cost us the game.

"This year," he continued, "we hope to even things up with those breaks."

Although "happy" with his backfield (when in top physical shape), Stulgaits faces a huge problem with an inexperienced line which tonight probably will be even more handicapped without the presence of Keiser in the lineup.

Red Ink Shows And when you subtract Baylor and Schatzman from among the starters, the red ink shows rapidly in the Mountaineers' ledger.

"We know we got a long, long way to go this year," says Stulgaits, "and only team experience will help us along."

The Mountaineer mentor says he doesn't know yet who will replace Schatzman or Baylor in the backfield if they are unable to play (a most likely prospect), while Mike Thurston has been selected to spell Keiser at center.

As Stulgaits put it last night: "What we need is luck and rest."

Mets Lose 115th For Record Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — The Houston Astros edged New York 5-4 on Saturday in the 12th inning single for a sweep of their doubleheader Thursday and pushed the hapless Mets into a tie for the National League record for season's losses. Houston won the opener 7-2.

The Twin defeats gave the Mets 115 setbacks in 152 decisions, matching the league mark set by the 1935 Boston Braves. The major league record is 117 by the 1916 Philadelphia Athletics. Both records were established in 154 game seasons.

Smith, who whacked a three-run homer for the Colts in the seventh, singled with two out in the 12th after singles by Dave Roberts and Bob Aspromonte, who had five hits in the second game.

Thomas Hits Two The Twins powered the Mets to a healthy lead with two homers, connecting with one on in the fourth and another with no one on in the sixth, giving him 32 for the season. The Mets committed five errors in the opener and the Colts capitalized. Three of their unearned runs came in the first inning and pined the loss on Jay Hook, now 8-13. Houston 000 000 301 001-5 13 2 New York 000 211 000 000-4 7 1 Farrell, McMahon (7), Kemmerer (9) and Smith; Craig, Anderson (8), Davault (10) and Taylor, Cannizzaro (9), W-Kemmerer (5-3). —L—Davault (1-5). Home runs — Houston, Smith (12), New York, Thomas 2 (32).

Tab Tough Picks In Area Contests

By MR. PIGSKIN

TRYING to build up an 8-5-1 won-loss tie percentage this weekend is like attempting to dive into a thimble filled with water. But we have face courage. And, after-all, it doesn't cost a dime to be an also-ran in the football predicting fraternity.

This weekend the schedules are loaded with tough ones. We'll go with these picks, and if we have to do it Monday, we'll bow humbly to the victors and eat crow.

Wills Must Break Cobb's Mark Today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A disheartened, tired and bruised Maury Wills said Thursday, "as far as I'm concerned I might as well forget trying to break Ty Cobb's record for stolen bases." The Los Angeles Dodger made the remark moments after he learned Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick had ruled Wills must steal three bases in Friday night's game with St. Louis in order to break Cobb's mark of 96 stolen bases.

Frick said in New York that Cobb's record "is based on a 154-game schedule" and in order for Wills to break the record he must steal 97 bases in the first 154 games on the Dodgers schedule. Wills, who has stolen 94 bases, said Cobb set his record in 1915 when he played in 156 games. The two extra games were played because two contests ended in ties and had to be replayed.

"There's a possibility I might be able to break Cobb's record Friday night. I've stolen three bases in one game many times. But that's asking a lot," Wills said.

FRIDAY NIGHT

EMMAUS HIGH over Stroud Union — Insiders tell us that the Mountaineers ran out of gas against a fairly good Lehighite eleven last Friday. Well, it looks like the same obstacle tonight when the Green Hornets host Stroud Union. Emmaus ran up scores in their first two triumphs and from all indications they'll score on the locals. It could turn into a TD for a TD game. But from here it looks like the Hornets have too many horses.

LEHIGHION HIGH over Nazareth — Just a hunch the Indians have two, to many better backs than the Blue Eagles.

CATASAUQUA HIGH over Bangor — Every year Cathy coaches say they don't have a thing. And every year they do. The Slater's coach Dick Forster is rebuilding for that big upset yet.

NESHAMINY HIGH over Easton — The down-staters are the hottest schoolboy eleven around these parts. Also they are coached by two former East Stroudsburg State College stars, John Petercukie and Jackie Swartz.

WILLIAM ALLEN HIGH over West Scranton — Sammy Donato's Invaders are not up to par of former years.

BETHLEHEM HIGH over Baltimore Poly — This could easily turn into a fizzled Hurricane.

PHILLIPSBURG HIGH (NJ) over Northampton — The Garnet is one team the Konkrete Kids don't often defeat.

SATURDAY NIGHT

PEN ARGYL HIGH over East Stroudsburg — This is the game of the week. Pen Argyl's backs against East Stroudsburg's forward is the way it shapes up. Knights and will be out to avenge the loss. On the other hand, Elwood Petchel has his Lehigh-Northampton crown to defend. It is a tossup depending on where you sit.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON

LANCASTER HIGH over Dieruff; WHITEHALL HIGH over Palmerston; PARKLAND HIGH over Slaton; JIM THORPE HIGH over Coplay; HELLERTOWN HIGH over West Lawn; and WILSON HIGH over Gov. Mifflin.

US Yacht Rolls To 2-1 Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The American defender Weatherly cut through the gently rolling sea like a blue steel rapier Thursday and again ran away from Australia's Gretel for a 2-1 lead in the battle for the America's Cup, the world series of yachting.

The canny American skipper, Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, took command in the first five minutes and then proceeded to sail the white-hulled challenger from down under into the brine for a thorough shellacking. The Weatherly cross the finish line with about a mile lead as the race ended with seas almost flat and winds of six miles an hour.

Weatherly outfooted Gretel going into the wind and walked away from her downwind, finishing the 24-mile course in 4 hours, 21 minutes, 16 seconds—a whopping margin of 8 minutes, 40 seconds. Gretel's time was 4:29:56.

The Australians immediately exercised their prerogative and raised the flag asking for a lay day—the third day off in as many races. This postpones until Saturday, the fourth in the best-of-7 races between these sleek racing toys of millionaires.

The brush challengers from the bottom of the world actually may have outsmarted themselves in their insistence on these legal delaying tactics. The rule permits either boat to ask for off day after each race.

Wrong Choice?

Most observers felt the Aussies would have been wise to race Wednesday while still riding the impetus of Tuesday's dramatic triumph and while winds on the Atlantic were whipping up white caps with gusts up to 22 miles an hour.

But the visitors chose to gamble on even rougher conditions—originally predicted Thursday — and lost.

The third race started on calm waters with winds of no more than nine miles an hour and turned into a dull drifting match on the spinaker runs as the winds dropped to a ghostly whisper.

Like First Race

The race, like the first also won by Weatherly, was windward-leeward—six miles into the wind and six miles with the wind and twice around. The even races—the next is No. 4—are over a 24-mile triangular course with an eight mile windward leg and two reaches of eight miles each.

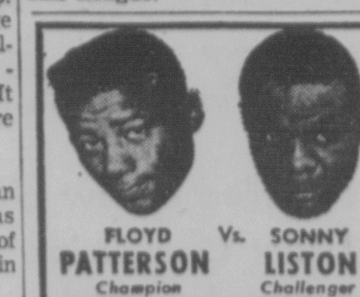

Weatherly whipped around the first weather mark with a lead of 58 seconds or about 200 yards and then turned the race into a complete rout on the second leg—a 6-mile run with the wind.

Pretzel Bowl Game Is Set For Oct. 13

RAJAH Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will reach another charitable milestone through its 12th annual Pretzel Bowl football game, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 13, in Albright College Stadium in Reading.

Leon S. Bimline, managing director of the annual charity event, predicted that the funds raised for the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children in Philadelphia will well exceed $300,000 after this year's game.

The first 11 games have netted $279,000 for the Philadelphia hospital which caters to children of all races and creeds.

This year's game pits two gridiron foes of long standing against each other—the Gettysburg College Bulldogs against the host Albright College Lions.

"There is a tremendous interest in this game because of the close rivalry which exists between these two colleges," Mr. Bimline said. "Because of the great interest, we have already placed reserved seats on sale at Rajah Temple 136

Patton Puts Way To USGA Semis

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Grayling Billy Joe Patton, triggered by three key putts and an unbelievable recovery shot, whipped two more opponents Thursday and swept into the semifinals of the 62nd U.S. Amateur Golf Championship along with youngsters Labron Harris Jr., Charles Coady and Downing Gray.

Tar Heel hero Patton, 40-years-old but never anything but a spectator beyond the fourth round of any of the previous dozen national amateurs he played in, will play Gray in Friday's 36-hole semifinals at the 7,051-yard, par 36-36-72 No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club.

Saves Best The lumberman from Morganton, N.C., some 100 miles to the West, apparently was saving the best for the showdown rounds because for the first time this week he gave par at the course he knows so well a real battering.

After winning his morning match from 19-year-old Johnny McKelvey of Orlando, Fla., and Duke University with a so-so exhibition, Patton sank three difficult putts of between four and six feet on the early holes against quarter-final opponent Jimmy Gabrielsen. A recovery shot from deep in the trees on the fourth hole did the rest and Patton blazed 12 holes in 1-under-par for a 7 and 6 rout of the 20-year-old University of Georgia golfer.

Upsets Blancas The 63 Harris overcame some sloppy driving with eight one-putt greens in upsetting Houston collegian Homero Blancas 2 and 1.

Coady, a 25-year-old Air Force lieutenant from Texas and a popa of only 13 days, won the last three holes with two pars and a birdie and downed Bill Newcomb of the University of Michigan 2 up. The 24-year-old Gray, a 1961 graduate of Florida State U. and weekend player now in Pensacola, Fla., edged Paul DesJardins, 20, of Miami Shores, Fla., 1 up.

Lehigh Hanover Wins 'Jug'

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Lehigh Hanover, bay colt owned by the Lehigh Stable of New Egypt, N.J., broke the two-minute barrier twice Thursday to capture the 17th annual $75,000 Little Brown Jug from the classiest group of 3-year-old pacers in the event's history.

Handed magnificently by 35-year-old Stanley Dancer, the speedy son of Adios — Lurine

Hanover came from far back with two great stretch drives to nose out highly favored Coffee Break in the split-division classic.

Misses Record In the opening heat, Lehigh Hanover was third coming into the stretch and won it by 1 1/4 lengths in 1 minute 58 4/5 seconds, just a fifth of a second off the jug record of 1:58 3/5 set in 1960 by Muncy Hanover.

In the run-off heat, after Gamecock had captured the second elimination, Lehigh Hanover scored to a neck win over Coffee Break.

In the deciding juant Gamecock broke stride just after the start and forced Dancer to almost pull his pacer to a halt. Lehigh Hanover was fifth at the three-quarter mark, pulled up to fourth at the head of the stretch and then caught Coffee Break right at the wire in 1:59 3/5.

Dancer Repeats

Coffee Break had led all the way in the third heat, but could not hold off the driving finish of Lehigh Hanover. The winner picked up $27,564.34 for his conquest as Dancer repeated his 1961 victory with Henry T. Adios to take back-to-back Jugs.

Coffee Break won $11,253.82, Gamecock $10,130.23, Buxton Hanover $7,879.07, Meadow Battles $6,753.48, Thor Hanover and Smart Money $2,251.16 each and Houghton Hanover and Meadow Newport $1,125.60 each.

Johnny Simpson, only three-time winner of the Jug, drove Thor Hanover to fourth place in the first heat and won the second elimination with Gamecock. He turned Gamecock over to driver Joe O'Brien for the big run-off and handled Thor Hanover himself but Gamecock finished eighth after his break and Thor Hanover was last in the nine-horse field.

Fastest Field

Four of six from the first elimination heat and five of seven from the second came back for the big one. Ten of the 13 entrants had matched or bettered the two-minute mark this year, making it the fastest field in history.

Bangor Faces Tough Catty

SMARTING under the sting of the 19 to 19 tie carved out by the Trojans of Parkland High at Parkland last Saturday afternoon, the Slaters of the Bangor hoping to make amends for the errors in their opening home contest at the Bangor Memorial Park Stadium tonight.

Opposition for the Slaters will be the formidable Iron Borough eleven from Catawauqua High School who last Saturday afternoon administered a 47 to 0 drubbing to what was supposed to be a strong Coplay high team, reputed to be studied with veterans.

The Slaters were hurt last Saturday since Coach Dick Forster, new maroon mentor, was unable to be with his team for its opening game. Forster was confined to his home with illness. It is hoped he will be on hand tonight.

Assistant Coaches Bob Ealey and Louis Guida had charge of the team at Parkland, but even the team was hurt by the absence of two regulars and one first line replacement. Carmen Communale, veteran wingman and Bill Schankel, his opposite and understudy, were both on the side lines with illness and injury. Also Charlie Kish, 214-pound defensive sophomore tackle was unable to report for the game due to illness.

It is hoped that all hands will be ready for this encounter, for advanced billing indicates full strength will be needed.

The scouting reports on Catty are tough. They show a strong,

Detroit Downs Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Minnesota handed Detroit three unearned runs in the first inning, and that was all right-handers Phil Regan and Terry Fox needed to subdue the Twins 5-1 on eight hits Thursday.

The outcome pushed the idle New York Yankees a notch closer to clinching another American League pennant.

Magic number for the Bombers to wrap it up is now four, with the Twins trailing by 4½ games. The Yankees have eight games left, the Twins seven.

Al Kaline helped Regan further shorten the rope on Minnesota's dim pennant chances. He slashed three hits, including his 28th home run — a one-season personal high for the classy Tiger outfielder.

Norm Cash also had a big hit, singling home two runs in the first inning burst from which the Twins never recovered.

Regan (11-9) thwarted several early Minnesota threats with clutch pitching. He struck out one and walked four. Fox relieved Regan in the ninth after two singles and protected the victory retiring three men in order.

56 Players To Tee Off At Shawnee

A FIELD of 56 players will tee off in the member-guest golf tournament at Shawnee County Club Sunday.

There should be some tight competition both for team and individual honors with Bob and Tom Welch, each handicapped at 4-strokes for a team total of eight, one of the favored combinations. Les Fisher and Paul Miller with a 10-stroke handicap; Dr. W. E. Magan and R. Potter with 10 strokes; A. S. Forbes and Bob Lanino with 14 strokes; and Lou Sommers and Joseph Wallace, and Joe Schegel and W. Doall with 15, are other favored teams.

Howard Everett, a zero-handicap player, while favored to cop individual honors will have Les Fish, handicapped at 2; John Quinn, and Bob Lanino, at 3; and R. Potter and Bob and Tom Welch with 4-stroke handicaps, pushing him for top honors in the 18-hole event.

School Gridders Are Tough Picks

By DAVE LEHERR

HARRISBURG (AP)—Beaver Falls goes after its 24th straight victory Friday night against unbeaten New Castle in one of the top battles of this weekend's schoolboy football activity.

Both teams are making strong bids for this year's WPIAL-Class AA championship, and the experts rate the outcome a tossup.

Other key conference games pit Farrell against Butler in another battle of the unbeaten in the WPIAL. Tamagua against Pottsville and Mahanoy Area against Mount Carmel in the East Penn Conference and Steel-High against Reading and John Harris against Lebanon in the Central Penn League.

Hard To Pick
Any of these games could go either way, making them all hard to pick. But here we go anyway: Steel-High over Reading—Pre-season forecasts list Steel-High as the most likely to succeed in this season's Central Penn race.

John Harris over Lebanon—Here, we go with the defending Central Penn champs.

Beaver Falls over New Castle—This game could be a tossup, on top of the basis of their 23-game winning streak, longest in the state.

Uniontown over Redstone—Should be an easy one for the Red Raiders who are making a strong pitch for the WPIAL-Class AA championship.

Enough Said
Washington over Chartiers Valley—The Little Presidents have scored 84 points in their first two games, including 66 last week against Connellsville. Enough said here.

Farrell over Butler—It could go either way in this battle of the unbeaten, but we're sticking with the Steelers in view of past performance.

Other Games
The West—Sharon over Alliquippa, Altoona over Pittsburgh Schenley, Brownsville over Connelsville, Wilkesburg over Greensburg, Westinghouse over Harbark, Johnstown over New Kensington, Mount Lebanon over Trinity, McKeesport over Penn Hills, Braddock over Duquesne, Clearfield over DuBois, East Conemaugh over Forbes, Franklin over Meadville, Grove City over Oil City, Greenville over Sharpville, Warren over Titusville, Somerset over Ligonier, Indiana over Windber.

The East—Wilkes-Barre Meyers over Swoyerville, Sayre over Canton, Lebanon Catholic over Palmyra, York Suburban over Southwestern, Chambersburg over Delone Catholic, Bellefonte over Captain Jack, Wilkes-Barre GAR over Plymouth, Shamokin over Scranton Tech, Allentown Allen over West Scranton, Berwick over Sunbury, Kingston West Side Catholic over Hazleton, West Hazleton over Coaldale, Lewisburg over Bloomsburg, Selinsgrove over Milton, Danville over Central Columbia, John Harris over Lebanon, Lancaster over Middletown, Steel-High over Reading.

Last week's record: 24 right, 11 wrong, 3 ties for .685 average.

ALABAMA Keglers Bowl Tonight
THE AMERICAN Legion Auxiliary Bowling League has four matches scheduled for tonight.

Starting at 7 p.m., Pot-O-Gold vs. Sparks on alleys 1 and 2; and Flintstones vs. Tail Ends on alleys 3 and 4.
At 9 p.m., Top Cats vs. The Chums on alleys 1 and 2, and Four Slops vs. The Orphans on alleys 3 and 4.

Softball Game Sunday
STROUDSBURG Fire Co. will play Mt. Pocono Fire Co. Sunday in a softball game at High Point Inn starting at 2 p.m.

Pedros 5-Hits A's, 5-2

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Pedro Ramos pitched a five-hit baseball game Thursday for Cleveland as the Indians beat the Kansas City Athletics 5-2.

John Romano, the Indians' catcher, hit his third home run in two days with the bases empty in the fourth inning. He drove in three runs with his homer and two sacrifice flies, making a total of eight runs batted in in his last two games.

The Kansas City starting pitcher was Bill Fischer, who distinguished himself only by running his major league record of consecutive innings without a base on balls to 73. He had beaten Christy Mathewson's 49-year-old mark of 68 last Saturday night against Baltimore.

Expansion helped
If expansion hurt other pennant contenders, it helped the Dodgers. Their castoffs — Gill Hodges, Charley Neal, Bob Lillis and Bob Aspromonte — paved the way for steady jobs for the youngsters.

Only Willie Davis now shifts between third base and left field, but Frank Howard and Ron Fairly, two bonus players, know they play right field and first base, respectively.

Howard eliminated himself in the first base derby that included five men a year ago. He is now the team's regular right fielder. At 24 he has accounted for 80 runs more than a year ago. He is the team's home run leader and is about 64 points better than his 1961 average.

Tommy Davis, 23, in his third season, led the league most of the year in hitting and has accounted for more than 215 runs.

Dodgers Jelled - - And Won

By FRANK ECK

AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

THE Los Angeles Dodgers of 1962 are not to be confused with the array of young and untested talent that limped home four games behind the Cincinnati Reds in the 1961 National League pennant race.

"We have so many promising young players the big question is in trying to pick the best," manager Walt Alton declared early in 1961. Youngsters were in an out of the lineup and four players were infielders one day and outfielders the next.

Expansion helped
If expansion hurt other pennant contenders, it helped the Dodgers. Their castoffs — Gill Hodges, Charley Neal, Bob Lillis and Bob Aspromonte — paved the way for steady jobs for the youngsters.

Only Willie Davis now shifts between third base and left field, but Frank Howard and Ron Fairly, two bonus players, know they play right field and first base, respectively.

Howard eliminated himself in the first base derby that included five men a year ago. He is now the team's regular right fielder. At 24 he has accounted for 80 runs more than a year ago. He is the team's home run leader and is about 64 points better than his 1961 average.

Davis Boys Assets
Tommy Davis, 23, in his third season, led the league most of the year in hitting and has accounted for more than 215 runs.

Willie Davis, 22, a rookie a year ago, is hitting for power, has improved his percentage, has scored 75 more runs than a year ago and knows how to use his speed on the bases.

Fairly is 50 runs above his 1961 mark.

The youngsters jelled at once, which is something National League managers feared might happen.

Despite the youth movement, the Dodgers have in shortstop Maury Wills, 30, their most valuable player. He is hitting better, scoring more runs, driving home more teammates and setting all kinds of base stealing records. Last year the entire Dodger team stole 86 bases. Wills stole that many himself this season in 145 games.

Veteran Jim Gilliam plays third or second and has more runs batted in and a better average.

The Dodgers played only 578 baseball a year ago but most of this season they were at the 640 mark. They have been winning games they used to kick away. They have hit so much better that veterans Duke Snider and Wally Moon see only occasional service. The Dodger pitching staff is thin when you realize that Sandy Koufax, headed for a great season, was sidelined in mid-July when he already had won 14 games. But the team that clicked simultaneously in the field and at bat seems to minimize his loss. Outsiders wondered how they could stay in the race so long.

Don Drysdale at 26 looks like the greatest pitcher in baseball. At one time he seemed headed for 30 victories.

Johnny Podres, 30, and Stan Williams, 26, have pitched some fine games. The big pitching surprise, however, is the comeback of Ed Roebuck as a relief man and the early season work of sophomore southpaw Ron Perranoski, 25, a native of Paterson, N.J.

Dodgers, Giants Split
The San Francisco Giants played them even in 13 games by winning the last three, but the Dodgers resumed winning when the Giants left Los Angeles.

The shift from the Coliseum, where left field was more suitable as a handball court, was another big factor in the rise of the Dodgers.

Dodger pitchers like Chavez Ravine and Dodger hitters no longer shoot for a short porch. They have learned to move the ball around. They have also learned to respect skipper Walt Alton who has shown a firm hand in fitting young players into position.

In many areas there are large boys basketball leagues co-sponsored by the churches and YMCA's.

Invitations were also sent out by Major Baker to the pastor of the church suggesting that someone of the congregation or the pastors themselves attend the meeting if they were interested in entering a team or in forming such a league for younger boys.

TV Highlights

THE NATION's number one sports attraction—the World Series—will be covered by the NBC Television Network for the 16th consecutive year when baseball's Fall classic starts Wednesday, Oct. 3. (The NBC Radio Network will also carry the entire series). All games will be televised in color for the fourth straight year.

From 10 to 10:30 this morning on Chs. 2 and 10, former heavyweight boxing champions Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles, and current welterweight champion Emile Griffith discuss the upcoming Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title match, on "Calendar."

From 7:30 to 8:30, Chs. 3 and 4, "International Showtime" presents a romantic drama on ice by the "Austrian Ice Extravaganza." The show was taped in Freiburg, Germany.

On Chs. 2 and 10 from 7:30 to 8:30, "Incident of El Toro" is the new season's premiere episode of "Rawhide." A wild bull causes the death of two drovers and threatens to stampede the herd. Eric Fleming and Clint Eastwood star. Signe Hasso and David Janssen guest star in the season's premiere story on "Route 66" from 8:30 to 9:30. Tod and Buz (Martin Milner and George Maharis) hire on as deckhands aboard a salmon-fishing trawler.

An hour-long situation comedy series "Fair Exchange" debuts on Chs. 2 and 10 from 9:30 to 10:30. Two families, the Walkers of London, adopt each other's teenage daughter for one year. The girls have some initial difficulties with problems of homesickness and kid brothers. Starring are: Eddie Foy, Jr., Audrey Christie, Lynn Loring, Flip Mark, Victor Maddern, Diana Chesney, Judy Carne and Dennis Waterman.

Friday, September 21
March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Pluto very favorably aspected. Don't let your guard down though. Gains indicated for those engaged in nursing, surgery, the military, construction, the law. Be careful if traveling.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — You will find plenty of competition now. Your better self should enjoy this if you do not burn the candle at both ends and have not slipped up on such vital as accurate data and correct details.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — This may be the day for sleeping back to view your projects and methods with an eye toward retooling, even if only in small part. Remain poised, undisturbed, ready for bigger and better opportunities.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Lunar aspects good. There will be much convincing and maneuvering for best position. Don't be left at the post. Achievement is possible in the ordinary ways and places. Be resourceful.
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You much planetary help here, but through your own efforts you can have a satisfactory day. Study confidence, be sensible, philosophical, and know that there are many advantages for the searching.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Note lunar similarity day. But each individual has unique, temperamental and assets that are his own to wield successfully or otherwise. What disposition will you make of your first impressions?
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Especially favored now. Favorable aspects to Venus, functions, labor negotiations, family matters. Emphasize hope, gentleness, good looks, good work, able ideas.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Your gift for calculating on others' faults yet placing yourself in the background, can boost your profits manifold. Today needs omph, vitality, good, workable ideas.
November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Fine Jupiter influences should stimulate your fine mind and assist you in even the most difficult of endeavors. Carry out your tasks with enough faith and assurance to instill confidence.
December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A excellently placed Saturn now encourages your abilities and desires for attainment. Push forth your best efforts during this propitious period. Managers, salesmen among many gainers.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good period for tackling jobs that require patience and a steady hand. Avoid hectic activities.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Consider new methods and techniques, but don't overcommit your capacities. A temptation now, during leisure hours, relax with a good book, a hobby, music. Avoid hectic activities.
YOU BORN TODAY: You have enough initiative and the lofty desire to take on the best of anything, and common sense enough to delete the worthless. But in all this know-how, you may overestimate, become too minutely concerned with trivialities. Your artistry shows in everything; nurture it in labor; you abhor underhandness. Develop your sense of harmony; never permit outside influences to cause a tempestuous existence. Here is the classical scholar, the loyal teacher, the diplomat, the idealist. You love life.

A Worthwhile Letter

By William A. Doyle

Q. I agree with the way you urge people to invest, cautiously.
I like the way you defend speculation as a necessary part of our economic system. But I was surprised at the way you replied to the person who had been "taught" at some "educational institution" that the stock market is a regular gambling den.

I feel you missed a marvelous opportunity to spread the gospel of our free-enterprise system.

May I suggest that you not write that the stock market is not (repeat, NOT) a gambling establishment but a place where people speculate in industry. There is a whole of a difference.

If thousands of people had not bought stock in "wildcat" oil wells (much of which turned out to be worthless) the people of the United States and the rest of the world would probably never even know what miracles have been wrought with petroleum.

You can't name an industry or a worthwhile invention that was not promoted by a speculator in industry to start with.

Gambling produces nothing.
Money (a medium of exchange) simply goes from one nonproducer to another. If we all gambled, nothing would be produced and we would all starve to death.

Speculation puts money in the hands of producers and or people who are attempting to produce things.

If no one speculated in industry we would have no progress and very few of us would be living, for it takes progress to keep up with our increasing population. Progress requires speculation.

So, gambling and speculation in industry are as opposite as opposites can be.

You should keep pounding home the point that a person with spare money who wants to participate in future progress and the profits of that progress can, by buying stock in any company he chooses, become a part owner of that company.

No company can get very far without the confidence of the public. Nor can the stock of any company do well (rise in value) unless the company produces.

The stock market is a wonderful example of the efficiency of our free-enterprise machine. If companies make money, the efficiency of our economic machine increases.

As a result, wealth is increased for the common man — not only the millionaires, as some nitwits truly believe.

If this country is to win the cold war with communism and other forms of socialism, these things should be written — often.

Will you please do it in your column?

A. There's not much reason for me to do it. You've done such a fine job that I simply gave a small assist by putting your letter into newspaper style.

As a result (and with the forbearance of understanding editors) you have provided what amounts to an excellent guest column.

No, dear readers, I'm not getting lazy. This letter was simply too good to let go by. It shows a real understanding of our free-enterprise, capitalistic system. It should help clear up some of the misunderstanding that is around these days.

The best cure for "economic illiteracy" is to print some really illiterate, sound, economic writing.

Q. I am a widow. My daughter has four lovely children, all under 10 years of age. I have what to me is a fortune in stocks, bonds and cash. I want to leave everything to my daughter and grandchildren.
But I want to make sure that my son-in-law (who is a spendthrift and is 10 years younger than my daughter) does not get control of what I leave.

What can I do? I don't like the idea of paying a big fee to a lawyer for a will.

A. There are a number of things you could do. Among them, you might try making peace with your brother-in-law.
But whether you settle your problem with your son-in-law or not, you should see a lawyer right away and have a will drawn up. Everyone should have a will. You complain about
"big fee." If you die intestate (without having a will), it is almost certain that the expenses of having your estate settled will be much higher than if you leave a will.

In your particular case, it could very well be wise to have a trust set up in such a way that your son-in-law would have no control over what you leave.
See the trust officer at your bank and your lawyer about that.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Controversy
Is Resolved

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Dr.
James Shankweiler, superintendent of Chester public schools, says the controversy that led to a boycott of the all-Negro Thaddeus Stevens elementary school in nearby Twin Oaks has been resolved.

Shankweiler said recommendations for a solution he made Wednesday night were acceptable to a joint committee of board members and representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Details of his recommendation were not revealed. The full board will act upon the recommendation at its October meeting.

It was reported elsewhere, however, that one recommendation includes the elimination of all double classes at the school, one of the main issues.

The boycott, which started Sept.
7, was called off while the joint committee worked toward a settlement.

Three Hotels
Join Forces

New York (AP)—Three hotels that have competed vigorously in the past have decided to join forces in courting the convention trade.

The Biltmore, Commodore and Roosevelt hotels announced they are joining as "Grand Central Hotels" to pool facilities for a total of some 4,000 rooms and 50-000 square feet of exhibit space.

All three are linked to Grand Central Station in mid-Manhattan by underground passages.

Church Ladies Of Pen Argyl Name Official

PEN ARGYL—The board of management of the council of the United Churchwomen of Pen Argyl announced that Mrs. Willard Reed, of the Faith United Church of Christ, was named to the nominating committee.

It was also noted that Mrs. Kenneth Altenose and Mrs. Gerald Teel, are new representatives of the church.

World Community Day will be observed in the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church Nov. 2 at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Harold Hontz is chairman of the program.

One of the projects of World Community Day, a sample sewing kit, was displayed at the meeting by Mrs. Hontz.

The council assumed the responsibility of marking UNICEF day, and The Christian World Relations Committee will have charge of the program for one day, of Oct. 30.

Mrs. Daniel Ruggiero, chairman of promotion and leadership committee announced that plans were under way to order the magazine of United Churchwomen.

Mrs. Frederick M. Manson, Jr., was named chairman of the Christian Missions Committee and this committee will be in charge of the World Day of Prayer services on March 1, 1953.

The council will hold its next meeting Nov. 19 at 8 p. m. in the Zion Methodist Church.

Fail To Pick Track's Site

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Directors of Anthracite Raceway, Inc., which holds the license for a harness racing track in Luzerne County, met yesterday but failed to pick a site for the racing establishment.

Victor C. Diehm, president of the group, said nine sites were discussed and the choice was narrowed down to three. He said no disclosure of the three locations under discussion will be made until a site is finally chosen.

Diehm said the raceway's executive committee was empowered to select a site and to report its findings within 10 days to the board of directors.

In another development, Ross Miller, of Philadelphia, executive vice president of the corporation, was named general manager of the race track. He will establish residence in this area and will have an office in Hazleton, Diehm said.

Fall Television Shows Present Galaxy Of Entertainment

PALS—Timmy (Jon Provost) and Lassie are seen in "Lassie," which opens its ninth season Sunday, Sept. 30 (7:00-7:30 P.M., EDT) on the CBS Television Network. The program has become one of the most popular with old and young alike.

Red Skelton, Old Favorite, Returns With New Format

GUEST stars Juliet Prowse and Phil Harris, along with the Modernaires and the new Skelton Dancers, assist Red Skelton when the comedian opens his tenth season (his 12th in the medium) on the CBS Television Network with an enlarged one-hour show, "The Red Skelton Hour," Tuesday, Sept. 25 (8:30 - 9:30 p.m., EDT).

Skelton's new format includes a different sort of opening, often surprising and always comic; a regular pantomime spot of about five minutes duration; a production number by the new Skelton Dancers, 12 in number, the dances staged by choreographer Tom Hansen, and songs by the Modernaires, famed singing combo headed by Paula Kelly.

Also included are longer and more fully developed stories than before, involving Skelton's famous characters, Clem Kadiddlehopper, San Fernando Red, George Appleby, Deadeye, Cauliflower McPugg, Freddie the Freelander, Bolivar Shagnasty and Willie Lump Lump. A monologue by Skelton also will be a weekly feature.

In Skelton's opening show, subtitled "The Greatest Schmo on Earth," guest stars Juliet Prowse and John Ringard (Phil Harris), a jealous circus owner.

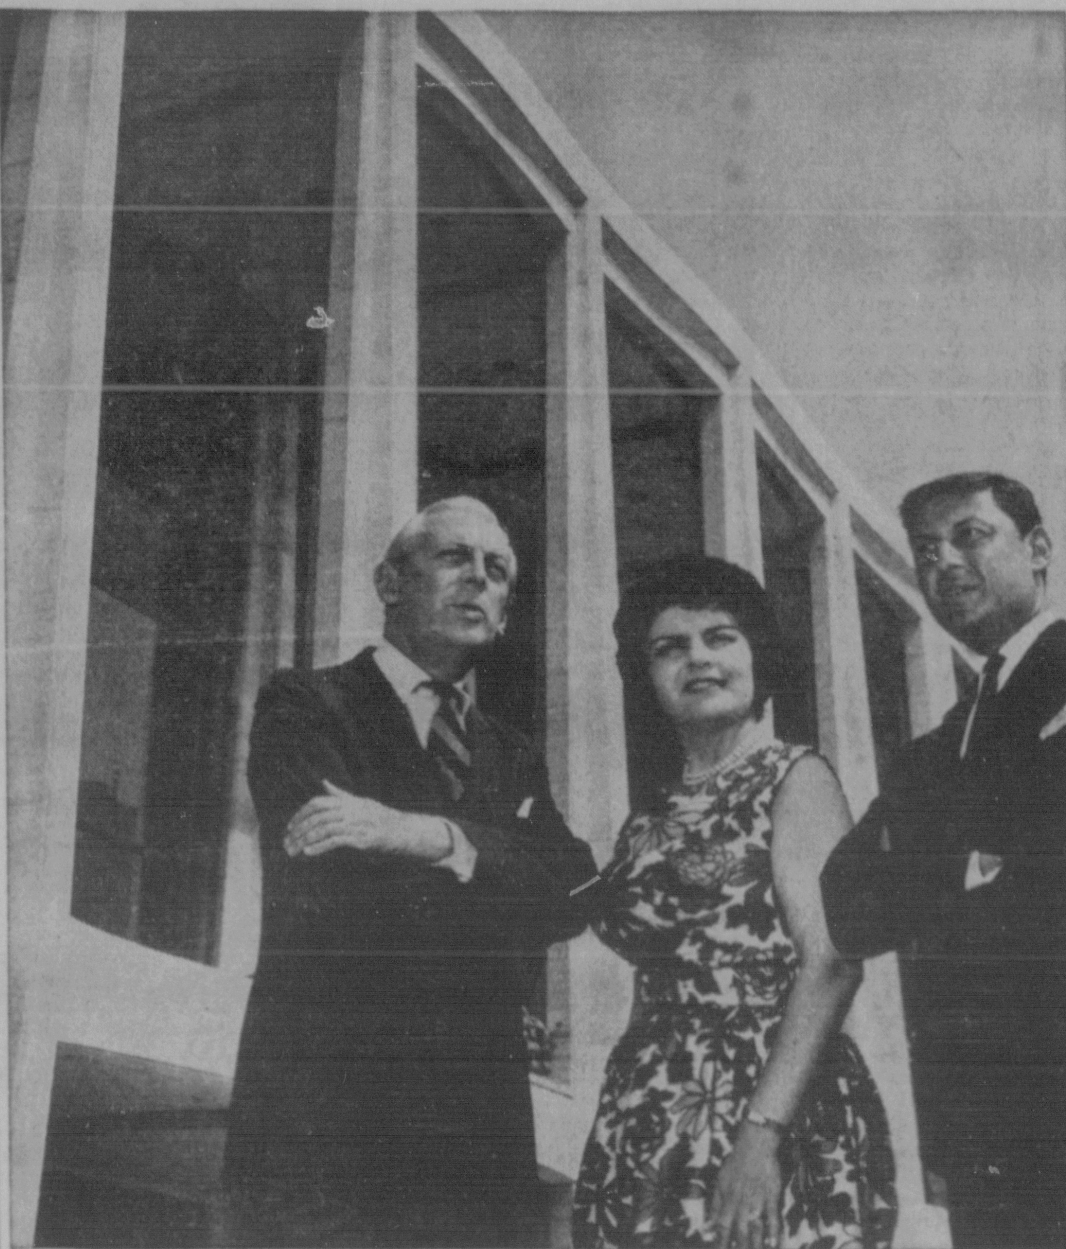

The Modernaires introduce the stars, then accompany the Skelton Dancers in their production number with the song, "You've Got To Give Them Hoke."

Juliet Prowse is featured in a dance sequence staged to the music from "A Walk on the Wild Side," backed by the six-boy dancers, The Modernaires.

The silent spot, starring Skelton in his pantomime art, concerns an old Western movie star who sees his name in a star on the sidewalk of Hollywood Boulevard, and does his best to show tourists and passersby that he is that old star whose name is emblazoned with the others of Hollywood's famous. Several years ago, Hollywood's Chamber of Commerce placed the famous names of screen, radio and television in star-shaped emblems in the sidewalk of Hollywood Boulevard, in Hollywood's downtown section.

David Rose and his orchestra present the music for the show. Ed Simmons, Dave O'Brien, Martin A. Ragaway, Arthur Phillips and Hugh Wedlock write the show, which is produced by Cecil Barker and directed by Seymour Berns.

ALLSTAR COOKE (left) as host, Lucine Amara of the Metropolitan Opera as one of the soloists, and Don Hewitt of CBS News as one of the directors are three of the many participants in the historic two-hour broadcast from Philharmonic Hall marking "Opening Night at Lincoln Center," Sunday, Sept. 23 (9:00-11:00 P.M., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

Lincoln Center Will Open Season Of Music Sunday

"ON THE next to last Sunday evening in September millions of Americans, through the immediacy of television, will be transported to Columbus Avenue and 65th Street in New York City to share an unprecedented moment of living history."

This is how the man who is producing it envisions the special two-hour broadcast on the CBS Television Network of the formal unveiling of what has been termed this nation's most ambitious cultural project — the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts.

"Opening Night at Lincoln Center," to originate in Philharmonic Hall, the Center's first building, on Sunday, Sept. 23 from 9:00 to 11:00 p.m., EDT, will be produced for the Network by Robert Sudek Associates as a major news event whose content is pure entertainment.

As Sudek sees it, the broadcast of the dedicatory concert by the New York Philharmonic conducted by Leonard Bernstein has a dual role to fulfill: As a witness to the musical performance itself, and as a mobile, intelligent guide to the entire concept of Lincoln Center.

"Because of the national impact of the occasion, we want to present the concert on television in such a way that those looking in will be able to experience the same feeling of drama and color and excitement as the 2,600 'opening-nighters' who will be in the hall," says Sudek.

The producer's second concern is with the hall itself — the first one of orchestral size, incidentally, to be built in New York since Carnegie Hall was put up in 1890.

"Something new in concert-hall architecture will be revealed when the Philharmonic's new home opens its doors to the public," Sudek avers, "and we'll be remiss if we don't televise it with the necessary regard for the importance of its architectural advancement."

People — the audience itself — will be the third major concern of that night of the man whose organization produced the acclaimed "Omnibus" series and is now preparing for its fifth season of producing the "Leonard Bernstein" and the New York Philharmonic.

programs on the CBS Television Network.

"There'll be a lot of notables present in that auditorium," he says, "and we hope to get as many of them on camera as we possibly can. We can't afford to waste any time catching somebody with egg on his face, or lingering on someone else with nothing to contribute."

A 30-minute intermission will divide the musical portions of the program, and immediately following the closing number of the first half Sudek will move his cameras backstage to the Green Room, traditional meeting place of concert halls and theatres, to pick up Bernstein welcoming some of the evening's more distinguished guests.

New Jackie Gleason Show Will Premiere On Sept. 29

"JACKIE Gleason's American Scene Magazine," starring Jackie Gleason in a new colorful, full-hour comedy-variety-music series tied to topical themes, has its premiere on the CBS Television Network Saturday, Sept. 29 (7:30 - 8:30 p.m., EDT).

Featured as regulars on the weekly program will be Frank Fontaine, popular comedy star of television, screen and radio, and singer-actress Sue Ann Langdon, whom Gleason recently signed in Hollywood. In addition, there will be special guest stars and talented newcomers for whom the television "magazine" will serve as a showcase.

Beautiful Gleason Girls, a traditional part of Gleason's previous productions, will be in evidence again in the new series — this time as "editors of the magazine's various departments," such as the cinema, books, sports, art, science, medicine and the theatre. Many of the programs will be full-scale musical comedies, with book, lyrics, songs, dances and comedy sketches reflecting the American scene.

Gleason will create some new comedy characters and will also revive many of his memorable ones — among them Reggie Van Gleason, Joe the Bartender, The Poor Soul and America's lovable, loud-mouthed bus driver Ralph Kramden in "The Honeymooners" sketches. Miss Langdon will appear as Kramden's long-suffering wife, Alice. She will also sing and appear in other sketches, as will Fontaine.

The new Gleason show will also feature 16 precision-dancing showgirls under the direction of Emmy-winning choreographer June Taylor, and a big orchestra under the baton of maestro Sammy Spear.

Describing his new show, Gleason says: "We're going to create laughs inspired by what's happening on the American scene. Everything will have a complete musical comedy flavor each week. The show will require a lot of preparation and rehearsal. For the most part, it will be slam-bang comedy as I've always done it, but this time we'll do it by selecting loftier planes covering the whole country; and we have a whole country full of topical subjects to pick from for comedy. Who knows — I may even rack up a few games of pool."

Guiding Hand Of NBC Net Is Native Of Stroudsburg

WHEN THE name of Robert Kintner is mentioned, as it so often is, on television, or he is quoted and headlined in metropolitan newspapers, or featured in magazine articles — many local people perk up their ears and are apt to mention, not casually,

As president of NBC Television, Robert Edmonds Kintner is not only one of the most famous but also one of the country's most powerful men and, far from being without honor in his own home, has become more of a legend than a person.

To one student each year in Stroud Union High School's graduating classes he is the source of the Lillian Kintner scholarship, named for his mother.

er. Another scholarship is available to young people of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church in which she was active.

To most local people, the last "in the flesh" meeting was at the testimonial dinner for Dr. Robert Brown on his retirement as superintendent of the high school, when Kintner was the guest speaker. To a few, his cousins, Jere Stofflet and Mrs. Frank Edinger, or close friends of his mother, like Mrs. T. F. Rhodes, he is still very close and very real.

To the rest of the county, the legends which have grown up around him have almost obscured the person.

Stroudsburg Native

Born in Stroudsburg, Sept. 12, 1909, Robert Kintner was an only child. Those who went to high school with him find no trouble in reconciling the intense, dynamic boy with the man who is the giant of television.

On the debating team, in his personal contacts, this quality of intensity made him a dominant figure in any setting, despite his slight stature. Smaller than many of the boys in the class of 1927, the affectionate nickname of "Shrimp" Kintner applied only to his physical size not their respect for his accomplishments and his leadership. He was slim, fine-featured, with his blond hair always brushed smooth, his knickers neatly buttoned at the knee rather than drooping as did those of his classmates.

Physically, it is difficult to

'Exploring' -- A New Series To Stimulate Young Minds

"EXPLORING," a full-hour weekly educational series for children five to 11 years old, will be broadcast in color on the NBC-TV Network on Saturdays at 12:30 p.m. EDT, beginning Oct. 13.

Dr. Albert R. Hibbs, a nationally known scientist who has received wide recognition for his teaching and other work in education, has been named host of the new series which originally was announced last May by NBC President Robert E. Kintner. Mr. Kintner noted that the program is but one of the steps taken at NBC "toward making greater use of television's potential in contributing affirmatively to the development of children."

A Public Affairs presentation of NBC News, "Exploring" is designed to stimulate the young viewers' interest in five major avenues of learning — language, music, mathematics, social studies and science. It will combine the most advanced teaching ideas and methods with a wide range of entertainment techniques in television to make the subject matter both meaningful and appealing to children.

Craig Fisher, formerly associate producer of NBC-TV's "Today" program, is producer of the series. He and his staff are working closely with educational groups and universities throughout the country, and have the professional assistance of prominent educators in the New York area.

In creating this new program series, NBC News availed itself of the services of Dr. Charles Winick, consultant to the National Broadcasting Company in the field of children's programming. Dr. Winick is a member of the faculty of Columbia University and has taught at New York University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dr. Hibbs is Senior Staff Scientist at the California Institute of Technology Jet Propulsion Laboratory. He has been a consultant to numerous departments of education in the California school system. In the Spring of 1961 he taught a science class for fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils in Pasadena, and during the past five years he has been a guest teacher of mathematics, general science and related subjects in elementary and junior high schools in Los Angeles, Santa Ana and Pasadena. Television is a familiar medium to him; he has just completed a 29-week science series in Los Angeles, and has appeared on other programs dealing with the U. S. space effort and other aspects of science and education.

'College Bowl' Has A New Moderator

ROBERT EARLE has been named as the new moderator for "College Bowl," weekly Sunday series on the CBS Television Network. He will succeed Allen Ludden when the intercollegiate question and answer program, now in summer hiatus, returns for its fifth season on the Network Sunday, Sept. 23 (5:30-6:00 p.m., EDT).

Mr. Earle, starring in his first network series with his "G-E College Bowl" assignment, has had a 16-year career in broadcasting and education. He formerly was Chairman of the Radio and Television Department of Ithaca College and also was announcer, newscaster and emcee on WKTV, Utica, N. Y., and WIBX, the CBS Radio Network affiliate in that city.

'McKeever' Has Comedy Series

CADET GARY McKeever (Scott Lane) devises a plan to win a new TV set by selling 1,000 bars of lily-of-the-valley soap, but the scheme hits a snag with discovery that Colonel Blackwell (Allan Joslyn) is allergic to lilies-of-the-valley, in "TV Or Not TV" on NBC-TV's "McKeever and the Colonel" Sunday, Oct. 7 (6:30-7 p.m. EDT).

Unable to sell the soap at the academy, McKeever turns to town, where a housewife interprets his efforts as a sign the school is bankrupt and — much to Blackwell's chagrin — begins sending food to the school.

TRIM CUTIE—Jackie Gleason registers approval of the tonsorial artistry of Sue Ann Langdon, who will be a featured regular on Gleason's new, hour-long weekly series, which premieres Saturday, Sept. 29 (7:30-8:30 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

'Gallant Men' To Premiere Tonight

THE premiere of "The Gallant Men," ABC-TV's new dramatic series about men in war, originally announced for Friday, Sept. 28, 7:30 - 8:30 p.m., EDT, has been postponed one week to Friday, October 5.

Occupying the 7:30 - 8:30 p.m. period on Friday, Sept. 28, will be the first "Bell & Howell Close-Up!" program of the 1962-63 season. There will be 18 of the "Bell & Howell Close-Up!" documentaries on ABC-TV during the coming season — four one-hour programs and 14 half-hours. It will be the third television season for the much-honored series.

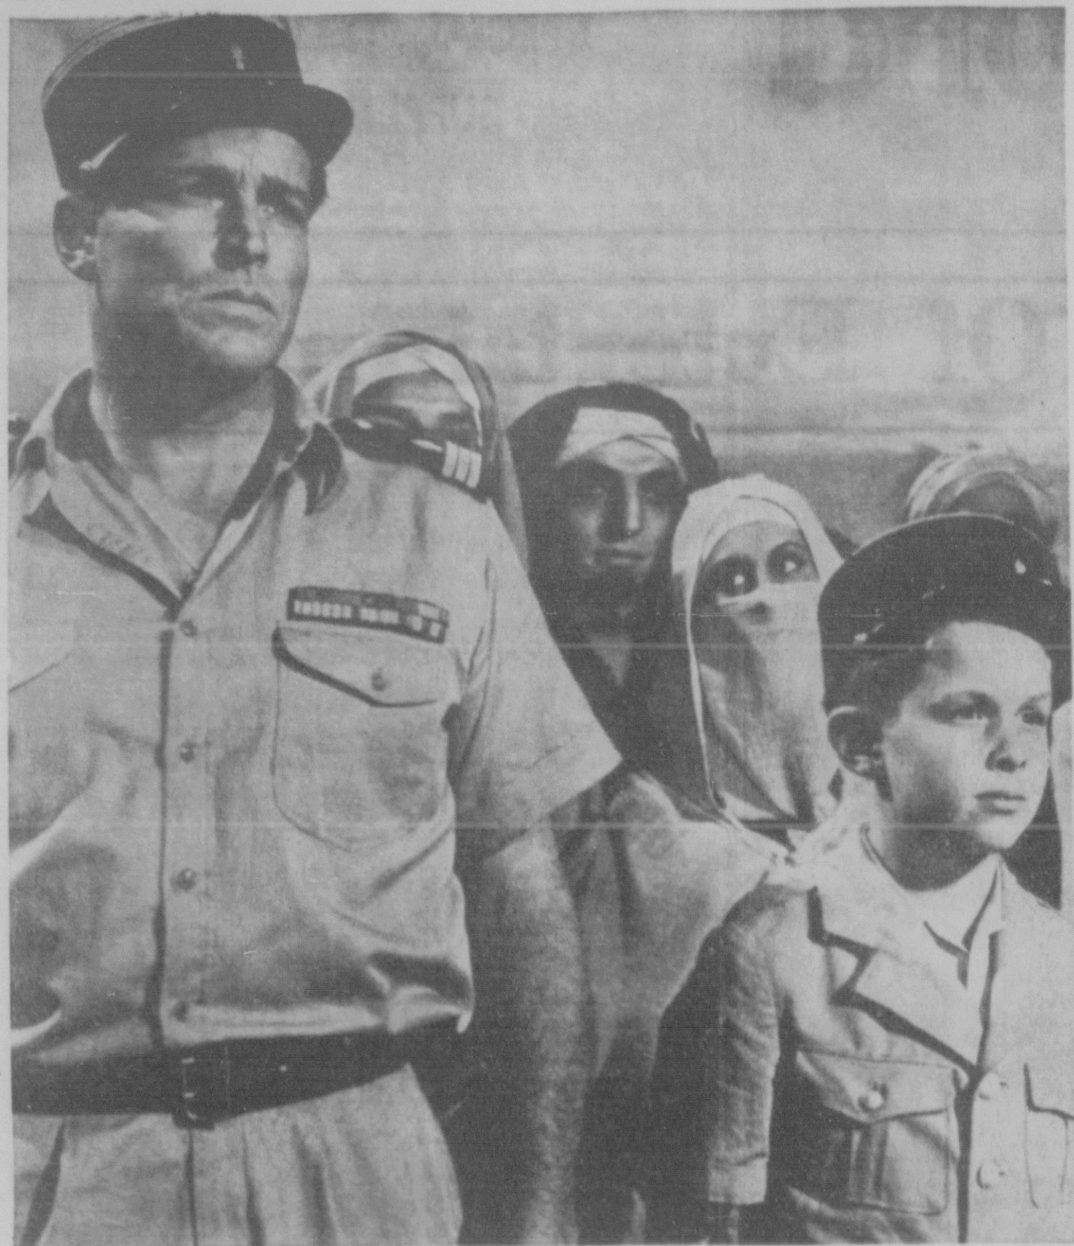

"The Gallant Men," focusing on the personal stories of the men of an infantry division in World War II, from the landings at Salerno to the triumphal entry into Rome, stars Robert McQueeney and William Reynolds. It is produced by Warner Bros.

Climbs Out Of Water

SALLY Kellerman, who plays a mountain girl in "The Durango Brothers" on ABC-TV's "The Cheyenne Show" Sept. 24, won the California title in the butterfly swimming event under the auspices of the Hollywood Athletic Club when she was 14 years old.

Robert A. Kintner

'CAPTAIN GALLANT'—Former Olympic swimming champion Buster Crabbe stars in the title role of "Captain Gallant," a filmed desert adventure series back on NBC-TV Saturdays. Crabbe's son Cuffy is featured in the re-run series as a 10-year-old boy adopted by Captain Gallant.

'Bananza' Is Tops In Color Features

'BANANZA,' television's first and most successful full-hour color filmed series, starts its fourth year on the NBC-TV Network Sunday, Sept. 23 (9-10 p.m. EDT).

Produced by David Dorfert and starring Lorne Greene, Pernell Roberts, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon, "Bananza" rates, in most polls, as one of TV's top shows.

The award-winning program premiered on the network in September, 1959, and, for the first two seasons was shown on Saturday nights until the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corporation, through its Campbell-Ewald Company agency, bought it at the start of last season to fill its Sunday night time slot occupied for many years by Dinah Shore. Chevrolet will sponsor the show again this season.

Filmed at Paramount Studios in Hollywood, the Western series offers all the excitement and struggle of the gold and silver rush days in and around the scenic Lake Tahoe country of California and Nevada—still one of the most beautiful, unspoiled areas in America. The dramas are presented through the eyes of the fictional Cartwright family—Ben (the father), played by Greene, and sons Adam (Roberts), Hoss (Blocker) and Little Joe (Landon). The Cartwright home is "The Ponderosa," 1,600 square miles of timbered land that stretches the length of the eastern shore of Lake Tahoe.

A film crew and "Bananza's" four stars made their fourth trip to Lake Tahoe this summer,

'Man's World' An Enjoyable Series

CIRCUMSTANCES throw Wes and Nora together for an entire day in the country as Irene subs for Wes at the gas pumps while growing ever more jealous in "It's a Man's World" Monday, Oct. 1 (NBC-TV, 7:30-8:30 p.m. EDT). This episode, entitled "Polly Pitcher and the Green-Eyed Monster," will be broadcast in color as part of NBC "Color Week."

Wes is played by Glenn Corbett, Irene by Jan Norris and Nora by Ann Schuyler. Also featured are Wes's three fellow dwellers on the houseboat—Tom-Tom (Ted Bessell), Vern (Randy Boone) and Howie (Michael Burns).

'College Bowl' To Return On Sunday

"G-E COLLEGE Bowl," Peabody Award-winning intercollegiate question and answer series, returns for its fifth season on the CBS Television Network Sunday, Sept. 23, (5:30-6:00 p.m., EDT).

With Robert Earle, the new moderator, firing questions from the podium, the season's premiere of this fast-moving informational-educational program will see Lafayette College (Easton, Pa.) facing American University (Washington, D. C.) for student scholarship funds offered by the sponsor, the General Electric Company.

Earle, recently announced as the successor to Allen Ludden, will be making his network debut as moderator of "G-E College Bowl." He is a veteran of 16 years in broadcasting and education. In addition to performing for local television and radio stations in upstate New York, Earle was an assistant professor and Chairman of the Radio and Television Department of Ithaca College, N. Y., from 1953 through 1959.

Since its premiere on the CBS Television Network on Jan. 4,

Concentration Features Hugh Downs

GOOD memory and imagination are the key factors required to be a winner on "Concentration," NBC-TV's top-rated daytime program which stars Hugh Downs as host. The game show, starting its fifth year on the network, is presented Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon EDT.

Based on the children's card game of the same name, "Concentration" places two contestants in competition. A large electronic board in the studio lists numbers from 1 to 30. Each number appears on one side of a triangular wedge. On the second side of the wedges are pictured prizes, which when matched will make 15 pairs. The third sides reveal parts of a rebus (word picture).

Each contestant is called upon to choose two numbers. If he can match a pair of prizes he is credited with the prize pictured. In turn, a portion of the rebus is revealed. The prizes include items of various values—all the way from one jelly bean to an all-expense trip to Europe.

The first contestant to identify the rebus as the title of a book, song or poem or a famous saying receives all the prizes credited to him and has the right to play the next game. The loser is out of competition, and although he doesn't win any prizes credited to him, receives a consolation award.

Norm Blumenthal is the producer of "Concentration," and Ted Nathanson the director. The series has been on NBC-TV since Aug. 25, 1958.

Perry Mason Starts Sixth Season

"PERRY" Mason," starring Raymond Burr as the famed attorney created by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, starts its sixth season in a new day and time period Thursday, Sept. 27 (8:00 - 9:00 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network. The series is currently presented on Saturdays (7:30 - 8:30 p.m., EDT).

Burr, twice winner of an Emmy Award, is supported in the popular courtroom series by Barbara Hale as Della Street, Mason's girl Friday, William Hopper as private investigator Paul Drake, William Talman as Dist. Atty. Hamilton Burger and Ray Collins as Police Lieut. Tragg. A new regular on the series this season will be Wesley Lau, who will portray Det. Lieut. Anderson, an aide to the veteran Tragg, a role he has played occasionally in the past.

Gail Patrick Jackson is executive producer of the series for Paisano Productions. Jackson Gillies is associate producer and story editor. Alternate producers are Arthur Marks and Arthur Seid.

'THE SHARI LEWIS SHOW'—Shari Lewis spruces up her side-kick Jump Pup (comedian-acrobat Jackie Warner) for the third season of NBC-TV's "The Shari Lewis Show." The musical comedy show for children is broadcast in color Saturday mornings.

'Leave It To Beaver' On New Day, New Time Now

"LEAVE It To Beaver," one of television's most popular situation comedy series, moves to a new day and a new time this fall joining ABC-TV's strong two and one half hour Thursday night comedy block.

The show will begin its fifth season on ABC-TV and its sixth on television Thursday, Sept. 27 (8:30-9 p.m., EST). Other shows in the 7:30-10 p.m. Thursday comedy block are "The Adventures of Ozzie & Harriet," at 7:30 p.m., "The Donna Reed Show," at 8 p.m., "My Three Sons," at 9 p.m. and the new "McHale's Navy" starring Ernest Borgnine at 9:30 p.m.

Consistently popular with audience and critics alike, "Leave It To Beaver," has been a recipient of the National Education Association's "School Bell Award" and The Christophers Annual Television Award.

Reflecting the different worlds of children and parents, "Leave It To Beaver," will again star Barbara Billingsley as June Cleaver, Hugh Beaumont as her husband Ward, Jerry Mathers as "Beaver" and Tony Dow as brother Wally.

Classified ads, individually small but economically potent, will occupy a million tons of newsprint in 1962, according to Newsprint Facts.

'EMPIRE'—Richard Egan and Terry Moore are co-stars in the new adventure series "Empire," in color on NBC-TV Tuesdays. The stories are set on a large ranch in present-day New Mexico, and the entire series is being filmed on location in New Mexico. Egan plays ranch foreman Redigo, and Terry Moore portrays Constance Garret, daughter of the ranch owner.

find the boy they remember in the pictures of the man of today, or with the description of him which appeared in a recent magazine article.

"A big, bluff, burly looking man with a slow grin—he somewhat resembles a good-natured St. Bernard whose bite, says an associate waggishly, is worse than his bark—Kintner has a deceptively gentle air about him and, according to friends, a mind like a steel trap."

The "mind like a steel trap" is remembered by those who were on the high school debating team with him when he was captain and rebutter extraordinary on such subjects as "Should the Philippines be Granted Their Independence." At that time, he was considering being a lawyer, and was a favorite pupil of his English teacher, Mrs. Olga Schiffmayer.

Entering Swarthmore College, he became editor of the college newspaper, and decided to enter journalism. Summers he worked at Pocono hotels, and his column "We Have With Us Today—", which capitalized the biographies of famous people then in the Poconos, appeared in The Daily Record front page, lower left hand corner.

After graduation, he became a cub reporter on the financial beat at the New York Herald Tribune. In two years, he was a full time reporter and in 1937 was transferred to the Washington office of the Tribune where he worked at the next desk to Joseph Alsop. They teamed together to write a column "Washington Merry-Go-Round."

Together they wrote a series of articles on U.S. foreign policy which first appeared in The Ladies Home Journal, and later in book form as "American White Paper" in 1940. A year later, he went into the Army as a lieutenant colonel in the intelligence service.

Tiring of desk work, he wangled an assignment to North Africa, during which a sudden plane drop caused his eardrums to burst and loss of hearing, for which he was discharged after three months in Dakar.

Returning to civilian life, he became public relations officer of the Blue Network and later headed up its news department. With the merger of ABC-Paramount, he built, Kintner was given credit for the meteoric rise of what had been called "the third network" in a two-network field." In 1950 he was named president of ABC, a post he held until 1956 when he resigned after a long and bloody battle with Leonard Goldenson of Paramount.

In January 1957, he joined NBC where his build-up of the news department in range and depth only increased when he was named president of NBC in 1958. NBC news now employs some 700 people collecting, analyzing and reporting the news with representatives in 70 countries.

He has also pressed for network control of its program-

Educated Casting

LEONARD Stern, creator-producer of ABC-TV's "I'm Dickens... He's Fenster" comedy series, is going to the UCLA campus to look for supporting players for the program since he found John Astin, his Dickens, appearing in John Dos Passos' "USA" there. Ann Gardner, a willowy brunette who was playing in "The Chinese Wall" at the University, was plucked by Stern to play a psychologist in "Part-Time Friend," an upcoming segment of the series.

ming, and the increased stature of NBC programs reflect his personal review of his networks shows, and is now pioneering the break-through in color TV.

His Personal Life

And what of the personal life of the man himself? He is married to the former Jean Rodney, whom he met in Washington in 1939 where she was a theatrical producer of "Outward Bound." They were married in March, 1940, and have three children.

Susan, now 19, made her debut two years ago, and is now a student at Middlebury College. Their two sons, Mike 13, and Jeff, 7, are students at Bernard School in New York. They spend their winters in a 10-room apartment on Fifth Ave., in New York City, and their summers in a large house in Westport, Conn., where he visits weekends for swimming and family activities.

When they move from one home to another, they move all the animals as well as the children. The animals include Lucky, an apartment sized collie, six guinea pigs and at last report a chameleon if it didn't get lost in transit.

Kintner's gruelling work schedule doesn't permit much entertaining. An early riser, he is usually at his office between 7:30 and 8 in the morning and usually works until 8 or 9 at night, and then watches his own and other network shows.

Family Man

Weekends belong to his family. During the last two years, he has been around the world once and to Europe four times. Last summer the whole family took a house in Palamos, Spain, but this year were back in Westport "where the kids know exactly what to do."

And he does come back to Stroudsburg—not as president of NBC, but as friend and family to the people he loves best. From their own experience, they endorse a recent tribute in an article in "Printers Ink."

"He wears success well—and he has worked hard for it. He is an extra-ordinarily human man, and his genuine interest and concern for the people working for him evokes a fierce loyalty from them."

Ed Sullivan Show Still A Favorite

BUDDY Arnold, veteran television writer, joins the staff of "The Ed Sullivan Show" when the program begins its new season Sunday, Sept. 30 (8:00 - 9:00 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network, producer Bob Precht announced today. He is the first staff writer ever employed on the show.

Precht emphasized that the appointment in no way changes the format to a "scripted" show. Arnold, Precht said, will assist in the preparation of sketches and production numbers and provide special material for some of the guests.

"We find it increasingly important to provide material for performers who do not already have their own acts," Precht explained. "Arnold's skill and background as a television writer will enable us to attract and present many additional popular personalities from motion pictures, television and the theatre, not dancers or comedians."

Arnold served as chief writer for the fourteenth anniversary "Ed Sullivan Show" last June. His experience as a television writer dates back to 1948 when he joined Milton Berle's staff and spent four years on "The Texaco Star Theatre." The association with Berle was renewed with his 1955 comedy series and the "Jackpot Bowling" program in 1960.

Arnold's other television writing credits include two years with Red Buttons during the 1952 and 1953 seasons, "The Colgate Comedy Hour" in 1954, Ray Bolger's "Washington Square" series in 1956, "Your Hit Parade" in 1958, the Andy Williams summer program in 1959, the Arthur Murray program during the 1959-60 season, and a number of specials for Victor Borge and other stars. Arnold has also written special material for such performers as Jimmy Durante, Desi Arnaz, Arthur Godfrey, Sophie Tucker and Joe E. Lewis.

PT Boats Are 'In'

ERNEST Borgnine, who stars as the skipper of PT 73 in ABC-TV's "McHale's Navy," says one of the reasons he believes the series will be successful is: "PT boats are in fashion these days!"

'THE VIRGINIAN'—Owen Wister's classic American Western novel comes to life Wednesdays on NBC-TV this fall, as television's first 90-minute series with continuing characters, the first 90-minute color series and the first 90-minute Western. Color-filmed on location in Wyoming, "The Virginian" has an all-star cast of six including (from left, foreground) Doug McClure as Trampas, Roberta Shore as Betsy Garth, Gary Clarke as Steve, James Drury as the legendary cowboy who was known only as the Virginian, and Pippa Scott as Molly Wood. Lee J. Cobb (not pictured) has the pivotal role as Judge Henry Garth. The program features top-name guest stars each week.

Telephone Hour In Full-Color Series

ONE OF the oldest shows on the air, the "Bell Telephone Hour" returns as a series of eight full-hour color specials on various evenings of the week.

The first program will be on Monday, Sept. 24 (10 p.m. EDT). Other dates so far include Monday, Oct. 22, Thursday, Nov. 22 and Sunday, Dec. 23.

The program again will feature top artists in music and dance, from opera, the concert hall, Broadway, motion pictures, night clubs, ballet, folk music and jazz. Among the notable artists so far signed for the new series are Birgit Nilsson, Carol Lawrence, Janet Blair, Robert Goulet, Mandy Patinkin, Earl Wrighton, John Raitt, Barbara Cook, Erik Bruhn and Carla Fracci, Mildred Miller, Grant Tinker, Byron Janis, Joan Sutherland and Rudolph Nureyev.

For 17 years the "Bell" program was one of the glories of radio, presenting a program of classical music with the greatest instrumentalists and singers of the age. When the program turned to television four seasons ago, the time was increased to a full hour and the program expanded to cover other fields of music and dance.

A list of the guest roster of recent seasons on TV reads like a who's who of music. A few of those who have appeared have included Mascha Elman, Harry Belafonte, Eileen Farrell, Ginger Rogers, Ethel Merman, Ray Bolger, Beatrice Lillie, Robert Preston, Joan Sutherland, Margot Fonteyn, Maureen O'Hara and Jose Iturbi.

For the third season, Barry Wood will be executive producer for Henry Jaffe Enterprises, the package producer. Don Lounsbery is producer. Peter Dohanos again will be the set designer.

"HERE'S HOLLYWOOD"—Helen O'Connell and Jack Linkletter are the co-hosts of NBC-TV's "Here's Hollywood" program. Interviews with theatrical headliners are presented each afternoon on the Monday-through-Friday series.

'Impression' In Full-Color Daytimes

"YOUR First Impression," an NBC-TV daytime color show, is a word association game in which three panelists try to identify one or two celebrities after listening to their mystery guests' reactions to single words and incomplete sentences submitted to them in quick succession by the panelists.

The panel show, which premiered on the network last Jan. 2, stars Bill Leyden as host-moderator with George Kirgo and Dennis James as regular panelists. It is seen Monday-through-Friday (12 noon to 12:30 p.m. EDT). Origination point is NBC-TV's Color Studios, Burbank, Calif.

The program begins when the panelists and viewers are given names and pictures of five celebrities. The guest is not visible, except in silhouette, to either panelists or the audience.

Each panelist takes turns trying to uncover a clue to the guest's identity by coming up with a series of words or sentences that will provoke revealing reactions. These are relayed to the panelists through the moderator by earphones.

After two rounds of psychological hints each panelist is asked to try and identify the guest celebrity, and to state the reasons for the choice. The identity of each guest is kept a secret until after the first round of clue-hunting, when it is revealed to the viewers, but not to the panelists.

'Marx Magic Midway' Promises Fun

A championship drum major and an "avant-garde" combo dubbed the "Circus Seven" have joined NBC-TV's new circus-variety show, "Marx Magic Midway," which premieres Saturday, Sept. 22 (11:30 a.m.-12 noon EDT).

As previously announced, the host and ringmaster will be Claude Kirchner, who emceed "Super Circus" on another network for eight years.

The baton-twirler is pert blonde Bonnie Lee Glier, 16, winner of the National Twirling Championship Open at age 13. This will be her first TV work — but Bonnie choreographs and stars in musicals at Westbury (Long Island, N.Y.) High School, where she will be a senior this year.

The "Circus Seven" was organized by pianist Lou Stein and will feature other top musicians including organist Dick Hyman, longtime associate of Arthur Godfrey, Mel Davis and Bernie Greenbaum are on trumpet; Sonny Russo, trombone; Romeo Penque, woodwinds and piccolo, and Bunty Shawker, drums.

Pianist-conductor Stein is featured with jazz groups in more than 20 LP albums, and as partner in Biever & Stein Productions on Madison Avenue he composes and scores music for TV commercials (such as "Let Your Fingers Do the Walking...").

Jack Miller, producer of "Marx Magic Midway," says: "Stein has composed a theme for us that smacks of modern jazz, the cha-cha and the twist — it's unlike any circus music you ever heard. But it's great! And his other way-out arrangements should help inspire our visiting jugglers and chimpanzees, too."

Three guest acts will be spotlighted each week, including acrobats, animal acts and other thrilling attractions. In addition, three clowns will be show regulars — Douglas Anderson (as Hokus Pokus), Paul Dooley (as Coo Coo) and 300-pound Bill Bailey (as Boom Boom).

'Ensign O'Toole' Is New Comedy On Navy Service

TAKE one quick-witted ensign loaded with boyish charm which women find irresistible, and add a chief petty officer who runs a tight watch and a loose poker game. Put them in league with two by-the-book officers and three seamen, mix them together in a "tin can" (Navy slang for a destroyer) and you have "Ensign O'Toole," NBC-TV's new half-hour sea-going comedy series which centers around the antics of the even crazier crew of the U. S. S. Appleby. The series premieres Sunday, Sept. 23 (7-7:30 p.m. EDT).

Like the ship to which they're assigned, members of the crew of the U. S. S. Appleby are usually "at sea." Whether manning their stations on the destroyer, scanning the female population of some exotic port or seeking a poker game, they are more than likely to work themselves into a situation worse than walking the plank.

Dean Jones, who recently completed a long run on Broadway as the star of "Under the Yum Yum Tree," plays the title role of Ensign O'Toole. O'Toole doesn't look for trouble — he's not even accident-prone.

Supreme authority of the enlisted men aboard the Appleby is Chief Petty Officer Homer Nelson, played by Jay C. Flippen, a veteran of vaudeville, movies, stage and TV. Chief Nelson is a hard-bitten old sea dog with 28 years of hash marks adorning his sleeve. He's the one who runs the tight watch and the loose poker game.

BABY PROBLEM—Danny Thomas (center) tries to solve the problem of an unhappy baby with the aid of a policeman (Joe Devlin, left) and a tramp (Benny Rubin) in the sixth season premiere of "The Danny Thomas Show" Monday, Oct. 1 (9:00-9:30 P.M., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

Ed Wynn To Review His Golden Years

VETERAN comedian Ed Wynn reviews some of the high spots of his 61 years in showbusiness in "The Golden Horseshoe Revue," which launches "Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color" on its second season of color broadcasts over the NBC-TV Network Sunday, Sept. 23 (7:30 to 8:30 p.m. EDT).

Wynn, Annette, singer Betty Taylor and comedians Gene Sheldon and Wally Boag help celebrate the 10,000 performance of the Old West act which has been seen by nearly 3,000,000 visitors to Disneyland's popular Golden Horseshoe Restaurant.

Miss Taylor, known as Slue Foot Sue, interrupts the revue when she spots 75-year-old Wynn in the audience. In a matter of minutes she has him on stage where the famed funnyman sings songs and tells jokes that have been acclaimed by his fans since 1901. Wynn and Miss Taylor do several duets as he wheels her about the stage atop his comical old "piano-cycle."

In a "Wild West" skit, a prim Annette tries to calm a saloon full of boisterous cowboys with a coy rendition of "Hang a Lantern in the Window" but has no luck until she joins a chorus of can-can girls in a rousing ragtime tune called "Mister Piano Man."

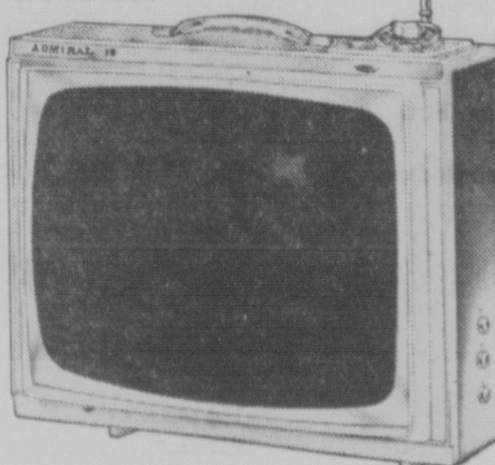

The "Golden Horseshoe Revue" was directed by Ron Miller from a Larry Clemmons script. Lou Dehney was associate producer for Walt Disney.

'Going My Way' Stars Gene Kelly

GENE KELLY, already distinguished as an actor, dancer, director, producer and singer, makes his debut as a regular television performer with the premiere of "Going My Way," new hour-long comedy-drama series, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (ABC-TV, 8:30-9:30 p.m., EDT).

In "Going My Way," patterned generally after the 1944 "Oscar"-winning movie hit, Kelly stars as the light-hearted Father Chuck O'Malley, curate of St. Dominick's Church in Manhattan.

Starred with Kelly are Dick York as Tom Colwell, young director of the Community Center, and Leo G. Carroll as elderly Father Fitzgibbon, pastor of the church and Father O'Malley's superior.

Hitchcock Back With New Series

"THE ALFRED Hitchcock Hour," with the rotund master of suspense as host, made its debut as an hour series Thursday, Sept. 20 (10:00-11:00 p.m., EDT) on the CBS Television Network.

The expanded format gives Hitchcock more room for character and plot development. He will continue to appear in his tongue-in-cheek commentaries on the plays, as he has on his celebrated half-hour program.

Among the guest stars signed to appear in programs of the new series are Carol Lynley, Gig Young, Martha Hyer, Dean Stockwell and John Forsythe. Writers will include Robert Bloch, who wrote the novel from which Hitchcock made the movie "Psycho," and Henry Slesar, a veteran weaver of suspense stories.

Joan Harrison and Norman Lloyd will be producers of "The Alfred Hitchcock Hour." Miss Harrison has produced Hitchcock's half-hour series since 1957. Lloyd was formerly associate producer for the half-hour series.

A Shamley Production, the series will be filmed at Revue Studios in Hollywood.

'The Nurses' Dramatizes Profession

"THE Nurses," a new full-hour series dramatizing the professional and personal life of nurses in a big metropolitan hospital, their devotion to duty, and their day-to-day relationship with doctors and patients, will make its debut on the CBS Television Network this fall, it was announced today by Hubbell Robinson, Senior Vice President — Programs.

The series, starring Shirl Conway and Zina Bethune, will be presented Thursdays, 9:00-10:00 p.m., EDT, starting September 27. It will be sponsored by Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation, Johnson & Johnson, Pillsbury Mills and Whitehall Laboratories Division of American Home Products Corporation.

Herbert Brodtkin, executive producer of "The Defenders," created "The Nurses." He will be executive producer of the new series, with Arthur Lewis as producer.

le's superior. Nydia Westman is featured as Mrs. Featherstone, the rectory housekeeper. "Back to Ballymore," the premiere presentation, affords Kelly the opportunity briefly to display his famous dancing and singing styles. In the story, Father Fitzgibbon's flock takes up a collection to send him on a visit to his birthplace in Ireland. Father Fitz objects to accepting his congregation's hard-earned dollars for so "frivolous" a purpose and he is particularly upset by the large donation proffered by Mr. Rempelovich, proprietor of a second-hand store.

But when the donors stubbornly insist, Fitz happily makes plans to realize his fondest dream. Father O'Malley, however, learns that the rustic paradise Fitz remembers from his boyhood, has become spoiled and ugly due to the growth of heavy industry and he takes on the task of dissuading the old man from his trip without disillusioning him with the bitter truth. "Going My Way," according to producer Joe Connelly, "will offer dramas with universal themes. While there will be heavy emphasis on comedy, the series will use as the vehicle for its humor, plots that are sometimes sobering and poignant."

'Mr. Smith' Promises Enjoyment

"MR. SMITH Goes to Washington," a new comedy series starring Fess Parker, with Sandra Warner and Red Foley gets underway Saturday, Sept. 29 with the arrival in Washington of guest Kay Starr as one of the junior senator's back-country constituents — a lady loaded with conviviality and money (ABC-TV, 8:30-9 p.m., EDT).

Fess Parker has the title role of Sen. Eugene Smith, an eager, sincere and idealistic first-term legislator from a grass roots corner of the nation. Miss Warner plays his wife, Pat, and Red Foley is his Uncle Cooter, a guitar-strumming country philosopher.

Kay Starr plays Katie, the rich woman with the charm, in the premiere episode, "Washington Hostess." Disregarding the senator's advice, Katie invites scores of the top political and diplomatic figures over to her house for a shindig. Nobody comes. Katie's native goodheartedness, however, leads to a transfer of the party's locale—and it becomes a triumph. Supporting roles in the series are played by Stan Irwin, as Smith's chauffeur, Arnie, and Rita Lynn as the senator's secretary, Miss Kelly.

Attains Maturity ALVIN Cooperman, the new producer of ABC-TV's "The Untouchables" series, starring Robert Stack as Elliot Ness, has gone from one extreme to the other in subject matter. He used to be the producer of the "Shirley Temple" series.

The first escalator was exhibited at Paris Exposition in France in 1900, then returned to U.S. and installed in Gimbel Bros. in Philadelphia.

Arthur Fiedler Conducts On 'Voice Of Firestone'

"MR. FIEDLER," the Boston lady subscriber to the Boston Pops concerts asked, "after the Pops and the Esplanade seasons are over in July, what do you do the rest of the year?"

What the musical world knows that the Boston lady didn't is that Arthur Fiedler, principal conductor of ABC-TV's forthcoming "Voice of Firestone" series, stays relatively put only during his spring and early summer seasons in Boston. The rest of the year he is on the fly. He has conducted in Norway and Argentina, in Israel and Chile and the countries in between and round about. He has conducted in Montreal and in Honolulu; and on the Mainland from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore.

The distinguished maestro is a favorite with scores of symphony orchestras and their audiences throughout much of the world. Here is a sampling of the Fiedler itinerary. For 63 days this summer, following the completion of the Boston Pops and the Charles River Esplanade Concerts, he will conduct in 59 cities in 18 states and the District of Columbia.

In between flights, the artist will alight in New York City for the rehearsals and the Sept. 30 premiere of the new "Voice of Firestone" program. As the series' principal conductor, he will, in the course of the coming season, touch down from time to time in New York for his turn on the Firestone podium, from starting points in the far reaches of this country, from Europe and the Middle East.
